Staff chooses developer for ambitious riverfront plan

■ Council will be asked to approve company that partnered with the St. Louis Cardinals and helped with Baltimore's Inner Harbor

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

West Sacramento's redevelopment agency has selected The Cordish Company, based in Baltimore, as "master developer" for over 200 acres of publicly owned property along the city's waterfront. The company was chosen from among various applicants for the job, and the West Sacramento City Council will be asked to approve the choice next month.

Cordish "has extensive experience with completing waterfront-oriented, urban infill and mixed-use projects across the country in prominent locations such as Baltimore's 'Inner Harbor,' Houston's 'Bayou Place,' Atlantic City's 'The Walk,' Charleston's 'Charleston Place,' and Louisville's 'Fourth Street Live,'" said Traci Michel of the redevelopment department in a statement to the press. "The company's current developments include Kansas City's nine-block Power & Light District and St. Louis's Ballpark Village, developed in partnership with the St. Louis Cardinals."

Blake Cordish, company vice president and son of its founder, said in the press statement that West Sacramento project "presents an opportunity for a new waterfront neighborhood with retail and entertainment concepts that can become the bellwether for West Sacramento."

The project includes land stretching along the barge canal between the Port of Sacramento and the Sacramento River, as well as property north and south of the canal along the river.

Val Toppenberg, director of the redevelopment agency, told the News-Ledger in March that it represents "California's most significant riverfront development opportunity."

"There aren't any sites like this in the region," he added. "This is a great opportunity for a mixed-use project. We envision perhaps a central park for the city, possibly a marina, possibly some retail – but not 'big box' retail. We think there's an opportunity for lodging. There could be a boutique-type hotel next to a marina. There could be an opportunity for gathering places."

Toppenberg's department is now in exclusive negotiations with Cordish. The company, if selected, will be asked to come up with a development plan for the property and could result in the sale or lease of the land or some kind of joint development agreement involving the company and the city.

The redevelopment agency's Traci Michel reports that Cordish has won an "unprecedented" six awards of excellence from the Urban Land Institute for its work.

How clean is your favorite eatery? Find out online

From the County of Yolo and News-Ledger staff

The results of restaurant inspections in Yolo County are now online for the public to view. Health Department inspectors routinely inspect food facilities for compliance with requirements for safe food handling and preparation. All of these inspections, except for those of mobile and temporary food facilities, are now available to the public through the Internet.

"The recent outbreaks of illness from food products have increased public awareness of the importance of safe food preparation," states Dr. Bette Hinton, Yolo County Health Officer. "This project has been in the works for over a year, and we are happy to make it available to the public."

To view a restaurant inspection result, go to the Yolo County Health Department web site at www.yolohealth.org. Select "Restaurant Inspection Results." Search for a food facility by entering the facility name and/or address. Entering both narrows the search, the "Search Tip" suggest ways you can improve your search efforts.

The results are listed in two ways:

· Red Violations: These are critical violations that pose an imminent risk to public health and may warrant immediate closure of the food establishment or immediate correction.

· Blue Violations: These are violations that do not pose an imminent public health risk, but warrant correction.

Selecting any individual violation brings up a window with addition information about a typical violation in this category.

Another recent related addition to the website is the posting of food recalls or alerts that are likely to impact Yolo County residents. This information can also be accessed at www.yolohealth.org. "These changes represent an ongoing effort by Environmental

Tree canopy needs work

City consultant says old trees are valuable but have been expiring due to poor pruning and the parasite 'mistletoe'

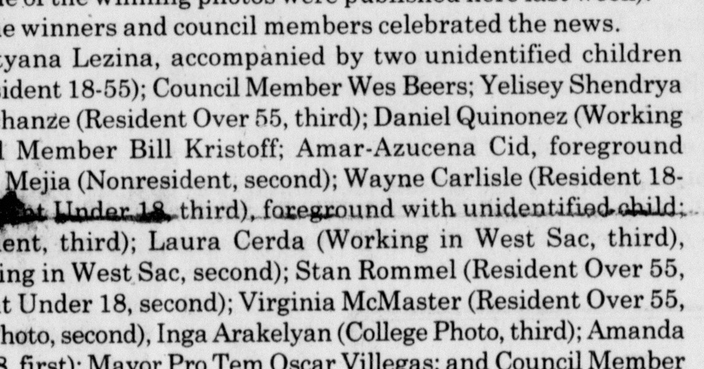
By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

Many of the shade trees originally planted in West Sacramento subdivisions are dying before their time due to mistletoe infestations and bad pruning practices such as "topping," reports city tree consultant Alan Hirsch. He and West Sacramento officials will soon focus an effort on replenishing that canopy in the city's northeastern "Broderick" area.

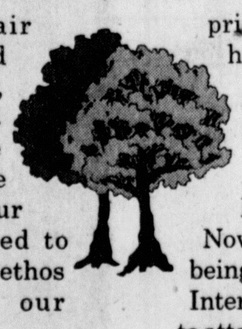
"What is happening in Broderick is typical of most 40-year old and older neighborhoods of the Sacramento region," Hirsch told the News-Ledger in an email interview. "We had the death of original trees planted by developers due to old age. . . (and) then the owner fails to replace the tree with something similar – a big tree that will grow up and out. They instead choose tall and narrow palms or redwoods, or small crepe myrtle or other ornamentals, or even nothing at all."

Hirsch said that failing to replace a true shade tree is "an opportunity lost to save thousands of dollars in air conditioning bills over the life of that tree – plus provide shade for parked cars and the streets, not to mention adding years to the life of a roof."

"Beginning in the 1950s," added Hirsch, "everyone could for the first time afford to install air conditioning and buy cheap power, so we forgot about the value of having shade trees around our homes. We need to bring back that ethos of trees to our communities."



WAS IT EVER THAT COLD? In January, volunteers helped plant trees in the Arlington Oaks subdivision just south of the barge canal. Now, it's the Broderick neighborhood's turn



In the Broderick area west of 8th Street, Hirsch said, ash trees planted by a developer 50 years ago are dying "prematurely" due to mistletoe and "topping."

Last winter, consultant Hirsch helped city arborist Dena Kirtley and residents of the Arlington Oaks subdivision in Southport plant 121 trees.

"Imagine the neighborhood pride when this tiny (213-home) neighborhood ended up hosting the second-largest neighborhood planting in the region last year!" Hirsch commented.

Now, something similar is being planned for Broderick. Interested people are invited to attend one of two organizing meetings. The first is planned for Monday, July 9 at 6:30 p.m. at the Cummins Way Community Center, and the second is planned for Thursday, July 19 at 7 p.m. at the same location. Volunteers are needed for advance publicity and other activities as well as actual tree-planting. Call Hirsch at (916) 359-2942 for more information.

Financial trouble for local developer

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A 34-unit townhouse project near 5th and E streets is back in the foreclosure process.

'Harriet Lane Townhomes,' a development by Sacramento SBB Associates of Fairfield, is apparently the victim of a housing market downturn and reportedly has had difficulty selling units. A legal notice shows the developer owing about $2.7 million on the 1.5-acre project.

Seeking comment, the News-Ledger left messages with a Harriet Lane Townhomes sales agent and with the project's sales office answering machine. But a representative of Sacramento SBB Associates could not immediately be reached.

The project had earlier this year entered the foreclosure process but apparently dodged that bullet.

Washington Unified:

Update on K-8 plan

An update on plans to transition local elementary schools to "kindergarten through 8th grade" campuses from the current "K-6" model will be part of tomorrow evening's school board meeting.

The board will meet in public session at 7 p.m. at the civic center, 1110 West Capitol Avenue on Thursday.

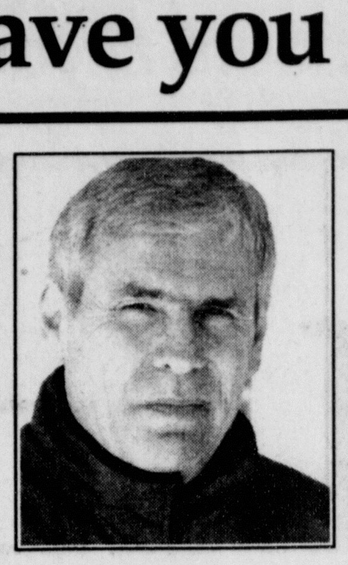
Early deadline

The News-Ledger will print and mail one day early for our July 4 edition, as July 4 (Independence Day) is a postal holiday.

Deadline for all news and ad submissions will be 5 p.m. on this Friday, June 29.

Tell the truth: have you got sweet -smelling feet?

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

I have such a great job here at the old News-Ledger. On most days, I don't even have to get out of my very comfortable desk chair, because I am within arm's reach of the office fax machine and it is always spitting out press releases which are often crying out to be made into humor columns. A really good case-in-point happened earlier this week when the California Podiatric Medical Association somehow saw the need to send over a press release entitled, "Secrets to Sweet Smelling Summer Feet." And here is just some of what I learned:

That a person walks over 75,000 miles (nearly two and a half times around the world) in an average lifetime; that the condition of your feet can dramatically affect everything from your temperament to your sense of humor; that there are 250,000 sweat glands on the feet which can produce a lingering odor officially called bromidrosis if you don't wash your feet at least once a day; that the closest thing to foot odor is the smell of limburger cheese; and that athlete's foot is a type of fungi (tinea pedes) which thrives off the protein keratin, which is found in the skin.

The real point of the press release (other than of course to get more people to visit the office of a podiatrist) was to pass along some common sense tips on how to keep one's feet smelling sweet throughout the hot summer months. For instance, wear clean socks or hosiery every day; go barefoot or wear open sandals as much as possible; and if you have athlete's foot, remember that most over-the-counter foot treatments need to be used for at least one full month if you want to clear up the problem properly.

I also learned a couple of things I didn't already know, like the fact that one should always buy new shoes late in the afternoon, because our feet swell throughout the day; that whenever possible, we should leave our shoes outside in the hot sun for a few hours as the sunlight helps kill bacteria; and my personal favorite, that we should spray our feet with an antiperspirant deodorant, the same way we do our underarms.

With all of the above in mind, I decided to pay a little visit the other evening to a very close relative of mine (I'll call him Pepe, after one of my favorite cartoon characters, Pepe Le Pew).

"What do you want?" asked Pepe, as I entered his room and found him as I usually do, sitting in front of his computer screen and thumbing away at one of his computer games.

"I have a little gift for you."

"A gift?"

"That's right."

"What kind of gift?"

"Well," I said, "if you'll take your eyes away from that computer screen of yours for just two seconds, I'll toss it over to you."

"Okay, in a minute. I'm almost done. Just hold your horses."

As I impatiently waited for Pepe to wrap up his computer game, I couldn't help but notice the very same limburger cheese-like odor which always seems to be lingering around his room, especially in the evening hours.

"Hey," I finally said to Pepe, "you know I can only stay in your room for so long without a gas mask. Here's your gift."

And with that warning, I tossed a large can of Right Guard spray deodorant (original sport scent) into Pepe's lap.

"What's that for?" immediately asked Pepe. "You know I don't use that stuff. I'm a roll-on man."

"It's isn't for your armpits."

"Then what is it for?"

"It's for your feet!"

"My feet?"

"That's right, your feet. I just learned that if a person sprays deodorant on their feet a couple of times every day, it really cuts down on foot odor."

"So, just what are you trying to tell me?" asked Pepe indignantly. "That I have bad smelling feet?"

"That's exactly what I'm trying to tell you!"

"Hey, my feet don't smell any worse than anyone else's," Pepe assured me. "And no way am I walking around West Sacramento with them smelling like Right Guard!"

"Just give it a try," I pleaded.

"No!" exclaimed Pepe. "And do you know what I think the real problem is?"

"What?"

"I think that now that you're almost 60 years old, you can't smell any better than you can see or hear!"

"Well," I said, "I can still smell good enough to know that your room always reeks!"

"But that's not got anything to do with my feet," Pepe assured me.

"Then what in the world is that god-awful smell that's always in here?"

"It's just gas!"

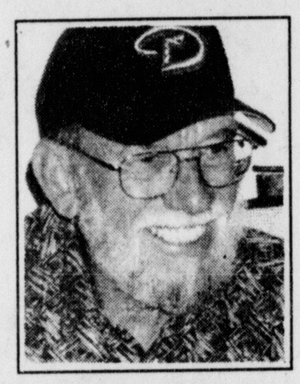
Obituaries



Robert N. "Bob" Hocker

Bob Hocker, beloved husband, father and grandfather, passed away on June 19, 2007, at the age of 70 in West Sacramento after a brief battle with lung cancer. He is survived by his wife of 47 years, Cora; son, Robert Hocker (Benedicte Lopez) of San Diego; daughters, Elizabeth Cypress (John) of West Sacramento and Susan Smith (Mark) of Sacramento; sister, Ardyth Lokteff (Ben); and many nieces and nephews. He is also survived by his six grandchildren, Rachel, Zoe, and Noah Hocker, Jacob and Mallory Cypress, and Aidan Smith. He was preceded in death by his parents, Frank and Pauline Hocker.

Bob was born in New Mexico and was a 63 year resident of West Sacramento. He was a member of the first graduating class of James Marshall High School, served honorably in the U.S. Navy from 1955 to 1959, and then proudly worked as a plumber for 32 years out of Plumbers & Pipefitters Local Union #447. Although he retired in 1992, he continued to work building cabinetry, remodeling homes and performing handyman chores. More than anything else, Bob enjoyed the company of his family and friends, especially in the backyard at the barbecue, preparing one of his delicious meals.

Bob was an avid reader and woodworker and loved nature and fishing. His special joy was spending time with his grandchildren. He will be greatly missed and always loved.

Memorial services will be held on June 30, 2007 at 1 p.m. at Trinity Presbyterian Church, 1500 Park Boulevard in West Sacramento, followed by a brief reception at the church and then a gathering at the VFW Hall, 905 Drever Street in West Sacramento. Remembrances may be made to Kaiser Permanente Hospice Program, 2025 Morse Avenue, Sacramento, CA 95825, or Trinity Presbyterian Church Memorial Fund, 1500 Park Boulevard, West Sacramento, CA 95691.

Leila Maude Holmes

Leila Maude Holmes, a resident of West Sacramento for 61 years, died on June 19, 2007 at the age of 88 of complications from diabetes, kidney and heart disease. She was born on February 13, 1919, in Choudrant, Louisiana, the fifth child of Elbert and Lizzie Jane Davis. She attended Louisiana Tech University in nearby Ruston, earning her degree in home economics in 1942. She was preceded in death in 1973 by her husband, Frederick Bausman Holmes, whom she met during World War II while he was stationed in Louisiana. They were married in 1945.

The couple moved to West Sacramento in 1946, raising four children who survive her: Mary Jane Holmes, Freda May Barron, Jonathan Davis Holmes and Pricilla Holmes. She is also survived by four grandchildren, four great grandchildren, and three sisters; Dorothy Haddad, Elizabeth Roach and Marian Baker.

Leila loved teaching children and was a retired teacher's aide at Elkhorn Elementary School. Toward the end of her life, she very much enjoyed the nickname "Cookie Grandma" for the treats she would bake for her great grandchildren.

Leila was a founding member of Trinity Presbyterian Church in West Sacramento where a memorial service was held on June 23, 2007. Remembrances may be sent to the charity of your choice.

West Sacramento is my first Choice!

Do you ever wonder how businesses come up with their names? Many people think a business owner will sit down with a highly paid advertising or marketing guru and do tons of research to come up with the magic words. Yet many times it's a process so simple it leaves you wondering, "Why didn't I think of that?" That is the story of Choice Mortgage in West Sacramento. I'm Lori Heavin and I'm the owner of Choice Mortgage and have been for nearly a decade now. The owner that is, I've been Lori for a little longer than that.

So the story goes, when I decided to open my own mortgage business, the first thing I asked was, "What do I call this business?" A friend and I sat down and tossed around countless names and then she said, "Lori, your name will be Choice Mortgage." I said, "Really?" She replied, "Yes, and it's not just that you will be the customer's choice but it's your choice to serve the people of your home town." Next came the, "Why didn't I think of that?"

If you're looking at financing a new home or refinancing your current residence, doesn't it make sense to work with someone who knows your area as well if not better than you? Most of the people I work with, from office employees to appraisers have been with me the whole way. I was raised in West Sacramento and have spent half my 30 years in the loan business right here. So, don't you find yourself saying, "Why didn't I think of that?" when it comes to financing the most important transaction of your life. I'm Lori Heavin and Choice Mortgage is right here in West Sacramento right where we belong.

Dead crow tests positive for West Nile Virus: first of 2007

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A dead crow tested positive for West Nile Virus in Sacramento County, reported the Sacramento-Yolo Mosquito and Vector Control District on June 12. It was the first sign of the disease this year. No "sentinel" chickens, horses, mosquitos or people tested positive for the disease prior to that date.

Last year, 43 people (27 of them in Yolo County) joined a host of birds and animals in coming down with the mosquito-born disease.

"It is important that residents of Sacramento and Yolo Counties heed the warning sign," said David Brown, district manager, in a press statement.

One key to preventing the spread of West Nile Virus is to drain standing water, or add mosquito fish to large ponds, in order to deny a place for mosquitos to breed. Other information may be found at www.FightTheBite.net.

Health to provide more useful and timely information to the public through the Internet," stated Bruce Sarazin, Environmental Health Director.

In addition to these Internet projects, the Environmental Health Division is preparing to implement the new California Law, known as CalCode, for retail food facilities that will go into effect on July 1, 2007. The new law is the first major modification of California's requirements for food facililities in many years and reflects a better understanding of the factors that can lead to foodborne illness. Food inspectors will focus inspections on the most common foodborne illness factors including: unsafe food sources, cooking and holding procedures and temperatures, equipment cleaning procedures, and employee hygiene. The law also requires employees to demonstrate to inspectors they know how to perform their job to protect food from contamination.

"This major shift in focus will help local restaurants and other food facilities direct their efforts to the most critical areas that will provide safe food to the Public," Sarazin added. "Annually the Federal Government estimates there are 76 million cases of foodborne illness in the United States. Most are mild and not reported, but nearly 325,000 people are hospitalized and about 5,000 deaths occur annually from foodborne illnesses."

Yolo County has over 700 fixed, permanent food facilities including restaurants, grocery stores, bakeries, bars, and institutional facilities inspected by Environmental Health. There are another 400 mobile food units and temporary food facilities, often found at community events such as the Yolo County Fair. All are inspected by the Health Department. Each of the County's eight part-time food inspectors (they also inspect swimming pools, water systems, water wells and other facilities) have undergone an intensive training program in preparation for the change to the new law.

The News-Ledger found about 48 food-serving establishments – including a few local schools – included on the county's database of inspections. The number of reported establishments seemed low, considering there are about 700 food facilities county-wide.

"It looks like not all the facilities we regulate are being inspected regularly," said Bruce Sarazin, director of environmental health services for the county. It was also possible, he said, that some inspection results simply weren't making onto the new website.

The News-Ledger also saw a few obvious glitches in the database: a few violations were listed as "red," or "critical," but were described in writing as only "minor."

"We're looking into that," said Sarazin, confirming that there was something wrong.

Sarazin also told the News-Ledger that perhaps "in six months or possibly a year" the county will consider going to a "letter grade" system for posting inspection results. The letter grade would be visible and bold on the front of each establishment.

Different versions of the system are used in different jurisdictions, but Sarazin said it makes sense for Yolo to try to become consistent with Sacramento County's letter-grade system.

"In some places, they base the grade on the number of points an establishment gets," he told the News-Ledger. "If you score a '92' or higher, you get an 'A.' With 75 to 91 points, you get a 'B,' and so on. In Sacramento County, they base it not on points in violation but on the number of 'critical' violations."

The environmental health department recently mailed food facility operators a newsletter outlining the food code changes. The Division provided an informational session for food facility operators June 21, 2007, to respond to any questions the operators had about the new regulations.

"The job of the health department is to protect the health and safety of our residents," adds Dr. Hinton. "Making this information available on line will help our residents access this information more easily."

For more information about the food program or new regulations, call Yolo County Environmental Health at (530) 666-8646.

Wolfe joins airborne

PVT2 Glenn Wolfe graduated from U.S. Army basic training at Fort Jackson, South Carolina on August 11, 2006 with his mother, Lois, his father, Allen, and his sister, Tara in attendance. He proceeded to advanced individual training in Bravo Company 187th in the light wheel mechanic division where he received the prestigious Distinguished Honor Award due to his positive motivational abilities with his peers.

Wolfe graduated from airborne training at Fort Benning, Georgia in November of 2006 and is now serving his country in the 82nd Airborne Division with the 3/73rd Cavalry at Camp Scania in Iraq.

Wolfe attended Golden State Middle School in West Sacramento and is a former resident of Southport.

ACROSS THE BRIDGE:

Events around the region

Music at the Sacramento Zoo

On every Tuesday in July, from 6-8 p.m., there will be "Music in the Zoo." Bring a blanket and enjoy some terrific concerts, including Big Band swing music, contemporary bluegrass, and a Disney Mania Concert for Conservation.

The Sacramento Zoo is located near the corner of Land Park Drive and Sutterville Road in William Land Park in Sacramento. For more information call 808-5888 or visit the zoo's website at www.saczoo.com.

Old City Cemetery tours

Morning walking tours of the Sacramento Historic City Cemetery will be held on July 7 and 21. The first tour will explore some of the diseases of the Gold Rush and will visit the final resting place of the multi-talented physicians who cared for patients of that era. The second tour is entitled "What's Blooming in the Cemetery" and visitors will stroll through the beautiful gardens of the cemetery and see the perennials, bulbs and shrubs which bloom in the historic Victorian cemetery.

The tours begin at 10 a.m. at the cemetery's main gate at Broadway and 10th Street in Sacramento. For more information, call 448-0811.

Volunteers needed

It's almost time for Eppie's Great Race and if you've been wanting to volunteer, now is the time. The 34th annual event will be held on the weekend of July 20-21 and is the world's oldest triathlon. 700 enthusiastic, energetic volunteers are needed to make it another success and if you are interested, call 381-0255, email TRS@SacCounty.net, or visit www.thegreatrace.org.

Eppie's Great Race is a nonprofit event benefiting the County of Sacramento and Therapeutic Recreation Services, which provides recreation and training to individuals with disabilities throughout the Sacramento area.

Down syndrome information

The Down Syndrome Information Alliance Education Series features programs on the first Tuesday of each month with the hope of improving the knowledge of individuals and families affected by Down syndrome. Experts in education, advocacy, health care, etc., make presentations and a free light dinner and childcare is provided. The Down Syndrome Information Alliance meets at the Sutter Cancer Center, 2800 L Street in Sacramento. For more information, call 658-1686 or visit www.downsyndromeinfo.org.

Alzheimer's society meets

The Alzheimer's Aid Society of Northern California Support Group for the Memory Impaired will meet the 2nd and 4th Wednesday in June at 10:30 a.m. at the Alzheimer's Aid Society Office, 2641 Cottage Way, Suite #4 in Sacramento. For more information on other related groups and meetings, call 448-7001.

Widowed persons meet

The Widowed Persons Association of California encourages widowed men and women to come to Sunday Support get-togethers each Sunday from 3-5 p.m. at the Widowed Persons Association office, located at 2628 El Camino Avenue, Suite D-18.

Activities include bowling, brown bag opera, needle and thread, breakfasts, dinners, golf, card games, dancing and traveling. For more information, call 972-9722.

'Crime tip' hotline

A new "crime tip" telephone line and email address are available to report crimes to the West Sacramento Police Department.

crimetip@cityofwestsacra-mento.org to report criminal activity and other problems not requiring emergency response, and not to submit a crime or incident report.

10 Rules to Prevent Child Drownings

Summer has arrived, and emergency-room physicians would like to remind parents how to prevent drownings and near-drownings involving children. These unfortunate and heart-wrenching events most often occur in the summer months, which are filled with water activities.

"Drowning remains the leading cause of accidental death among toddlers ages 1 to 2," said Dr. Larry J. Baraff, professor of pediatrics and emergency medicine at the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA. "One of the most preventable causes of death, this tragedy can be avoided with just a few simple precautions."

In the past five years, there were, on average, 2,200 children younger than 5 years old treated in U.S. hospital emergency departments for swimming pool submersion injuries and 280 pool-related drowning deaths per year. Ninety percent of these deaths occurred at home. More than two-thirds of toddler-age children who were found in pools or spas were thought to have been elsewhere in the house, either sleeping or playing.

Parents should follow these 10 basic rules to prevent a child drowning:

1. Never leave a child unattended or with a young sibling in a swimming pool, wading pool, bathtub or hot tub. Even a momentary lapse in supervision may result in drowning — a child can drown in just two minutes.

2. Pools should be fenced and gated with self-locking gates. This includes pools located in neighborhoods, apartment complexes, family backyards, etc. Pools must be kept clean, with no covers or rafts that might obstruct one's view of a child.

3. Always secure the safety cover on your spa or hot tub.

4. Be sure all containers with liquids are emptied immediately after use. Do not leave empty containers in yards or around the house where they may accumulate water and attract young children.

5. Adults and teenagers age 14 and older who supervise children should know CPR. Studies have demonstrated that nearly drowned children given quick CPR suffered no brain damage, while children not receiving such immediate treatment sustained brain damage or death.

6. Children should be given swimming lessons but should not be considered water-safe until they are 14 years old.

7. Keep small children out of bathrooms unless supervised by an adult or older child. Since 1973, more than 500 children have drowned in bathtubs, hot tubs, toilets and five-gallon buckets.

8. Older children and even adults should not swim alone in the ocean or fast-moving rivers.

9. Children should wear bright-colored flotation devices when boating.

10. Don't mix alcohol, children and water.

INVITATION TO BID

Sealed bids will be received at the office of the Director of Community Development & Public Works, 1110 West Capitol Avenue, 2nd floor, West Sacramento, California until 2:00 P.M. local time on Friday, July 5, 2007 for the:

Asbestos and Lead-Based Paint Abatement and the Demolition of 1725 West Capitol Avenue

Mandatory Site Walkthrough:

Site walkthroughs are scheduled on the following dates:

Thursday, June 28, 2007 at 10:00 a.m.

Note: Bids will not be accepted if you fail to attend the scheduled walkthrough.

The proposed work consists of the following:

Description of Work: The work consists of the implementation of associated asbestos and lead based paint abatement during demolition, and the removal of asbestos containing materials, in accordance with the Environmental Consultant Report Recommendations, and removal from site the existing structures, foundations, concrete flatwork, asphalt concrete pavement, any existing equipment, all trees, signs, miscellaneous trash and debris and miscellaneous site improvements.

In addition, the work shall also include the replacement of any pavement, sidewalk, curb and gutter or public and private improvements removed or damaged as a consequence of the execution of this Contract, as well as, all necessary traffic control.

Completion of Work: All work shall be completed within Twenty (20) calendar days from the date designated on the Notice to Proceed.

Obtaining Contract Documents: Plans and specifications may be examined at the office of the Director of Community Development & Public Works, 1110 West Capitol Avenue, 2nd Floor, West Sacramento, California. A copy of bid documents may be obtained at the office upon request and payment of $20.00 or may be mailed upon request and payment of $25.00. The amount of the payment is non-refundable.

The bid and general requirements of the demolition contract will be administered in accordance with the Project Specifications. The Technical requirements of the contract will be administered in accordance with the City of West Sacramento Standard Specifications of 2002 and the General Conditions contained in the contract documents, and other standard specifications referenced in the Contract Special Provisions.

Submission of Bids: All bids must be submitted not later than the time prescribed. The bidder is wholly responsible to see that his bid is submitted at the time and place designated for the opening of bids. Any bid received after the time and date specified shall not be considered. Any bid may be withdrawn prior to the scheduled time for opening bids. Each bid must conform and be responsive to this notice and shall be made on the official proposal forms furnished with the contract documents.

Attention is directed to the provisions of the Business and Professions Code Section 7028.15 which makes it a misdemeanor for any person without a valid contractors license (with specific exceptions) to submit a bid to act as a Contractor to a public agency.

Addendum(s) Issuance Verification: City staff will notify all contractors either by fax, email or US mail, of the issuance of any addendum(s), if any. However, it is the Contractor's sole responsibility to verify that he received all addendums, if any, and to include all issued addendums in his bid. Submittal of the bid without inclusion of all addendums will be considered non-responsive and the bid will be rejected.

Bid Guarantee: Each proposal must be accompanied by cash, a cashier's check, certified check or bid bond, executed on the prescribed form, in an amount not less than ten (10) percent of the total bid price payable to the City of West Sacramento.

Bidders are hereby notified that in accordance with the provisions of Government Code Section 4590, securities may be substituted for any monies which the City may withhold pursuant to the terms of this Contract to ensure performance.

Licensing Requirements: Prime Contractor shall possess a valid California State Contractor's License class B and/ or C-21 with a valid "Asbestos Certification" issued by the State of California Contractor's Licensing Board. But, if the Prime Contractor elects to subcontract the asbestos abatement to an "Asbestos Certified Sub-Contractor, the subcontractor shall be DOSH Certified", the Prime Contractor is required to possess the "Asbestos Classification" with his B or C-21 License.

Prime Contractors with California "B" class license can act as the prime contractor if they subcontract all demolition work to a "C-21" contractor, providing that the subcontract does not exceed 49% of the total value of ALL the work specified in the Contract Documents. All Subcontractors and Specialty Contractors shall hold such licenses as may be required by the laws of the State of California for the performance of all the work specified in the Contract Documents.

City of West Sacramento Business License: General contractor, all subcontractors and specialty subcontractors must pay for and obtain City of West Sacramento business license before starting the work.

Award: The award shall be made to the lowest responsible bidder whose proposal complies with the specified requirements. The award of Contract will be made by the Director of Community Development, and the Contractor shall execute the Contract within ten (10) days after he has received the Contract from the City.

No bid may be withdrawn for a period of sixty (60) days after the opening of bids.

Rejection of Bids:

a. Bids may be rejected if they show any alterations of form, incomplete bid, erasures, additions not called for, or irregularities of any kind.

b. The City of West Sacramento reserves the right to waive any minor irregularity or clerical error and award the contract, provided the minor irregularity or clerical error does not materially affect the bidder's bid.

c. The City of West Sacramento reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Disqualification of Bidder: If there is a reason to believe that collusion exists among any bidders, none of the bids of the participants in such collusion will be considered and the City may likewise elect to reject all bids received.

Relief of Bidder: Attention is directed to the provisions of Public Contracts Code Section 5101 and following, concerning relief of bidders and in particular to the requirements therein that if the bidder claims a mistake was made in his bid, the bidder shall give the City written notice, within five (5) days after the opening of bids of the alleged mistake, specifying in the notice, in detail, how the mistake occurred.

Wage Rates: Bidders are hereby notified that the California Director of Industrial Relations has determined the general prevailing rate of wages for each craft, classification, or type of worker needed to execute the work.

It shall be mandatory for the Contractor and any subcontractor under him to pay not less than the said specified rates to laborers and workmen employed by them in the execution of the Contract. This demolition project is funded with State Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and therefore is subject to applicable State and Federal labor standards compliance. Prevailing wages will be paid to all trades involved in this demolition. A labor standards consultant has been contracted by the City of West Sacramento to ensure compliance.

Bonds: The successful bidder will be required to furnish a payment bond in an amount equal to one hundred (100) percent of the Contract price, and a faithful performance bond in an amount equal to one hundred (100) percent of the Contract price.

Liquidated damages: See Contract Provisions, General Conditions, Section D, # 8 Failure to Timely Complete the Work.

COLLEGE CORNER

College Moving Tips

Smooth Move—Reserving a moving truck at least two weeks early can make the move to college a little easier.

(NAPS)—College enrollments continue to climb, according to the National Center for Education Statistics.

A few tips—including renting the right-sized truck and having a packing plan—can help make the move to college go smoothly. The following suggestions come from Penske Truck Rental, a company with over 30 years in the business.

- Truck Selection. Most college students choose the 12- or 16-foot truck for moving into a college dorm or efficiency apartment.
- Reserve Early. Remember to reserve your truck and any moving accessories at least two weeks in advance with a company that guarantees a truck with each reservation (not all do). Save time by making your drop-off arrangements when you reserve your truck.
- Pack Smart. Bring only what you really need. Load the heaviest items into the truck first. To avoid injury, always bend your knees and lift with your legs; never lift with your back.
- Use Accessories. Boxes, packing tape, bubble wrap, moving blankets and hand trucks are all essential moving tools that can help protect your items during your move.
- Safety and Security. Trucks are taller, wider, heavier and require more stopping distance than the vehicle you are likely used to driving. Drive slower and take extra precautions, especially when the truck is loaded. To ensure a smooth moving day, pick up your truck a day early. Practice driving it. When traveling, park in well-lit areas and padlock the rear door. Penske offers 24/7 emergency roadside assistance and optional protection plans.

Finally, with most belongings packed tightly away, create a travel bag for moving day to keep important paperwork, credit cards, identification, change of clothes, drinks and snacks close at hand.

Additional moving tips are available at www.GoPenske.com.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

Bits & pieces

There's still no organized opposition to West Sacramento's proposed new property assessment help pay for better levees. There's also remarkably little griping about the measure, even from those who usually hate new taxes of any kind.

The measure looks to be in good shape. That's not a good reason, though, to forego voting on it. West Sacramento needs a levee upgrade, and voters should make sure to send in their mail-in ballots with a 'yes' vote. Ballots are due by Tuesday, July 10.

More than 50 percent approval is needed for the assessment to pass. The new taxes will save money by keeping flood insurance rates down and reducing the risk of dealing with a catastrophic city flood.

The News-Ledger has long encouraged Yolo County to adopt a "letter grade" system for restaurant health inspections, similar to the system in place in some other counties and states.

Before now, if you wanted to see a restaurant's health inspection report, you had to drive to county offices in Woodland to look it up (time consuming), or ask the restaurant's manager to show you a copy (awkward). This month, Yolo County made a step forward in public disclosure of these reports. They're now available on the internet at www.yolohealth.org.

The new system makes it easier to find out which establishments are (and aren't) keeping their cold foods cold and their hot foods hot, and which don't have adequate facilities for employees to wash their hands after using the, uh, commode.

When the News-Ledger checked the online reports, though, some problems were apparent. It wasn't clear whether some restaurants missing from the database due to lack of a recent inspection or due to some other glitch. And some violations were miscategorized as "critical" when they should have been called "minor." The county health department told the News-Ledger it is looking into these issues. In the meantime, the News-Ledger has opted not to print a summary of local inspection results until there is more reason to believe the data is in order.

The county is also looking at starting a letter-grade system like Sacramento's. That way, a casual diner can see a one-letter summary (an "A" is for high marks, a "B" means minor troubles, etc.) of a restaurant's last inspection results right there in the restaurant's window. There would be no need to consultant the internet before buying that pastrami sandwich.

Such a system would help keep restaurants on their toes and would give consumers information they deserve.

Yolo isn't there yet. But in the meantime, putting the information on the internet earns Yolo a "B."

River City High's principal reports being hit from behind by several students in the surrounding crowd as he tried to separate two girls who were fighting. By exactly what code of honor, held by anyone anywhere, is that considered acceptable?

You may have seen the News-Ledger's May 30 issue on a major drug bust involving "flavored" cocaine. The drug was being offered in flavors including strawberry, vanilla, coconut, banana and chocolate – possibly in an effort to market to a younger crowd.

Six Stockton-area suspects were arrested after several undercover drug purchases, including one conducted in the parking lot of West Sacramento's Nugget Market.

Officials from the Yolo Narcotics Enforcement Task Force (YONET) last week added that this flavored-cocaine bust may have been among the first of its kind anywhere.

Letters to the Editor

Supports K-8 conversion

I want to respond to the latest letters in the News-Ledger regarding WUSD.

First, there is the opposition letter on the K-8 conversion. I want the K-8 conversion. Many do. 1,271 surveys were sent out, and of the 363 returned, 301 preferred K-8 schools. Please go to the district website, it tells you everything you should know about K-8's. If you want to be more informed you should check it out -- http://www.wusd.k12.ca.us/educational services/k 8.html.

Yes, the district will need more money to do this K-8 conversion, and they will also need more to finish the high school. The district did not throw the current bond money away. All construction costs have significantly increased over the past 3-4 years. Getting caught off-guard by over-runs has not been uncommon in recent times. This is basically due to increased cost for materials, not from shortsightedness or corruption. I want what is best for my child and I am willing to pay for it here in West Sacramento instead of in another school district. If my family did not have this K-8 option we would be transporting our kids to another school district.

Regarding BWI, the school was built to be ready for the addition of more classrooms when needed, so it will not be taking up play space. You should contact the BWI principal and ask what their plans for conversion are.

Regarding K-8 structure, again, go to the WUSD K-8 website. The structure will separate the younger kids from the older ones. They will have their own quad area and core learning area as well as different break times. The only times they will be together is under supervision and in a mentoring capacity. They will have their own bathrooms, different teachers for some subjects and electives, and will offer AVID classes. What they won't have is 1,000-plus 7th and 8th grade students and the extra electives that GSMS offers.

Second, my thoughts go to a majority vote that selected the current school board. I'm disheartened that someone would think they are all cold, calculated and corrupt. I believe the board has listened to the public, researched possibilities and are trying to do what they can to move this district forward into the best direction possible for our kids. To speculate that the closed meetings are to plan their cold, calculating and corrupt ideas into fruition is absurd. I know WUSD is not perfect and I thank Dani for being out there to stir the pot and energize people about a very important cause -- our kids. But the negative rants are draining and often I just skip those letters because I already know what they say. I don't need the negativity. I think being involved and working with the teachers, the district, and the board in a positive manner is much more helpful to everyone.

Bush/Cheney not above the law

It is ironic that Vice President Cheney claims he's not part of the executive branch of our government, yet he is our acting president when Bush #43 is overseas, etc. And now a White House spokesman claims Bush's 2003 executive order, which requires all government agencies that are part of the executive branch and handle classified national security information submit to an independent federal watchdog agency, doesn't apply to Bush and Cheney's executive offices.

Excuse me? I thought the president and vice president are/were the #1 and #2 highest ranking members of the executive branch of our government! But Bush and Cheney are -- in effect -- claiming they are above the law and need not share any information.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF ETHEL MAY SMITH aka ETHEL MAY LEGUE aka ETHEL MAY RUSAW
CASE NUMBER PB07-121

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of ETHEL MAY SMITH aka ETHEL MAY LEGUE aka ETHEL MAY RUSAW:

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by GORDON G. RUSAW in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that GORDON G. RUSAW be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: July 31, 2007, at 9:00 a.m. in Dept. 2, Superior Court of California, County of Yolo, 725 Court Street, Woodland CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a "Request for Special Notice" (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A "Request for Special Notice" form is available from the court clerk.

The idea of Go Figure is to arrive at the figures given at the bottom and right-hand columns of the diagram by following the arithmetic signs in the order they are given (that is, from left to right and top to bottom). Use only the numbers below the diagram to complete its blank squares and use each of the nine numbers only once.

"Knocked Up"

Running time: 129 minutes
MPAA rating: R

I am a huge fan of writer/director Judd Apatow. I loved "Freaks and Geeks," and "The 40-Year-Old Virgin" was the funniest movie of 2005. And his latest effort, "Knocked Up," is poised to be the sleeper hit of the summer.

In the raucously funny romantic comedy for guys, Apatow does what he does best: Make us laugh by creating characters who are human; people who are both ugly and vulgar while (often in the same moment) noble and beautiful.

"Knocked Up" stars Seth Rogen as Ben Stone, a young dude who spends most of his time taking swats off a bong and hanging with his buds. Katherine Heigl is Alison Scott, a young, pretty woman who lives with her sister and brother-in-law and who was recently promoted at her job at the E! network.

Ben and Alison meet at a local club one night. One drink leads to another, and pretty soon they're back at her place. Flash-forward three months and Alison discovers she's pregnant with Ben's child. She decides to keep the baby and tells Ben about it, thus setting into motion a hilarious and sometimes touching series of events as these two extremely different people try their best to Do The Right Thing.

The supporting cast of Leslie Mann and Paul Rudd as Alison's sister and brother-in-law also shine in this film.

Katherine Heigl, Seth Rogen

Mann and Rudd do an amazing job. They are just as funny and touching as the leads, and Apatow gives them the screen time needed to become real characters, and not simply foils for Rogen and Heigl.

If you're looking to avoid the bloated, over-hyped and disappointing summer blockbusters, then I heartily recommend "Knocked Up." It's not just a great date movie; it's simply great.

Picnic Fare That's Simple Yet Elegant

by Philomena Corradeno

Eating outdoors need not be a rustic affair. A few simple touches can make it as elegant as a banquet. Start off with toasted French or Italian bread spread with ricotta cheese topped with a superb ham — Prosciutto di Parma, buttery, velvety with a salty glow that's offset by the sweet, creamy smooth ricotta. Don't touch that crown of fat — it contributes to prosciutto's unique flavor.

And be sure you're getting the real thing. Prosciutto di Parma is branded with a ducal crown, which means it has passed strict regulations and has been cured for at least 400 days.

If you're traveling to a picnic site, toast the bread at home, pack the makings and put the pieces together when you get to the park. Carry on the theme with a bean salad laced with strips of prosciutto and tomatoes, celery and scallions.

BRUSCHETTA WITH PROSCUITTO DI PARMA

- 1/2 cup (about 4 ounces) ricotta cheese
- 8 slices (1/2-inch thick) French or Italian bread from a long loaf, toasted lightly
- 8 arugula leaves
- 8 thin slices (about 4 ounces) Prosciutto di Parma

To prepare each bruschetta: Spread 1 tablespoon of ricotta on each toasted bread slice. Top with one arugula leaf and a slice of Prosciutto di Parma. Yield: 4 portions.

PROSCIUTTO DI PARMA AND WHITE BEAN SALAD

- 2 teaspoons olive oil
- 1 teaspoon chopped garlic
- 2 (19-ounce) cans white beans (cannelloni), drained and rinsed
- 1/3 cup prepared Italian salad dressing
- 4 ounces thinly sliced Prosciutto di Parma, cut in strips
- 1 cup grape or cherry tomatoes, halved
- 3/4 cup thinly sliced celery
- 1/4 cup thinly sliced green onions (scallions)
- 6 large leaves Boston lettuce

In large skillet, heat oil. Add garlic; cook and stir until tender, about 1 minute. Add beans and 1/2 cup water; cook and stir until beans are hot and water has evaporated, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in dressing; cool. Gently stir in Proscuitto di Parma, tomatoes, celery and green onions. Just before serving, line a platter with lettuce leaves; spoon salad onto lettuce. Serve at room temperature. Yield: 6 portions (about 6 cups)

Blueberry-Sorbet Cake Is Cool Summer Treat

When it's just too darn hot to bake, but the occasion calls for a special dessert, try this Blueberry and Citrus Sorbet "Layer Cake." This cool, refreshing dessert stacks the sparkling flavors of citrus sorbets with the zing of blueberries for a colorful frozen dessert. And that's just one suggestion for putting blueberries to work for you this summer!

Stock the fridge and freezer with blueberries to make entertaining and family events easy on the cook. Blueberries never need to be peeled, pitted, stemmed or chopped — just a quick rinse and they're ready to eat or add to recipes.

Blueberries are not only convenient, they also provide nutrients our bodies need every day. You can find more blueberry recipes and information at www.blueberry.org.

BLUEBERRY AND CITRUS SORBET "LAYER" CAKE

- 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts
- 1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons blueberry preserves or jam, divided
- 1 pint orange sorbet, slightly softened
- 1 pint lemon or other citrus sorbet, slightly softened
- 1 cup fresh blueberries

Line the bottom and sides of an 8-by-4-inch loaf pan with a double layer of waxed paper, folding the paper to fit smoothly. In a small bowl, stir together walnuts and 1/4 cup of the blueberry preserves; set aside. Spoon orange sorbet into the lined pan, smoothing the top to make an even layer. Spread the reserved walnut-preserves mixture evenly over the orange sorbet. Spoon the lemon sorbet evenly over the preserves and smooth the top. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Freeze several hours or overnight.

Just before serving, in a medium bowl, stir remaining 2 tablespoons preserves until smooth; fold in fresh blueberries. Invert the cake onto a chilled serving plate. Remove the pan and waxed paper; spoon about one-fourth of the blueberry mixture down the center of the cake. Cut the cake into 8 (1-inch) slices. Serve on chilled dessert plates; top each slice with a spoonful of the remaining fresh berry mixture. Serve immediately. Makes 8 portions.

Presidential Courage: Brave Leaders and How They Changed America 1789-1989
by Michael Beschloss
(Simon & Schuster, $28)
Reviewed by Larry Cox

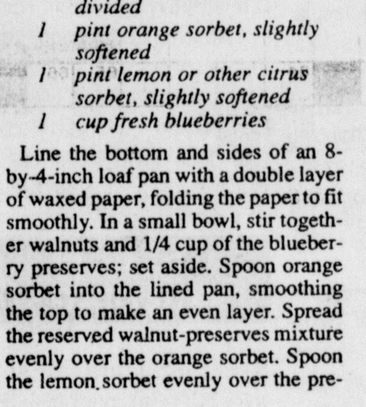
Newsweek once called Michael Beschloss the nation's leading presidential historian. His eight bestsellers include "The Inside Story of the End of the Cold War," "The Conquerors: Roosevelt, Truman and the Destruction of Hitler's Germany" and "Taking Charge: The Johnson White House Tapes, 1960-1963."

His latest book focuses on what makes a great president. Blending meticulous research, surprising new material that has never been used before and richly drawn storytelling, "Presidential Courage" is a highly readable book. Although it is not intended to include all of our greatest presidents, it seeks to show several that took incredible risks over some of the most important issues in our history — issues such as the tensions between government and big business, human rights, and war and peace.

Beschloss showcases nine leaders over two centuries of American history: George Washington, John Adams, Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln, Teddy Roosevelt, FDR, Harry Truman, John F. Kennedy and Ronald Reagan. With each, he explores both their leadership and impact on our national history.

As Harry Truman once said, the ultimate test of any presidential decision is "not whether it's popular at the time, but whether it's right. ... If it's right, make it and let the popular part take care of itself." More or less, that's what each of the nine men did who are featured in this book.

Fave Foods of the Famous
by Steven Austin



Dave Wilton

No, he's not a famous chef or globe-trotting gourmet. But when it comes to foods and drinks, Dave Wilton knows how they got their names. He is an independent researcher in historical linguistics, etymology and slang origins. He is best known as the editor of the Web site www.wordorigins.org, which he has run since 1997. He is also the author of "Word Myths: Debunking Linguistic Urban Legends" and of numerous articles, including A Hoagie By Any Other Name, which addresses the various names for the sandwich.

Etymology doesn't pay all the bills, however, and Dave makes his living working for a chip manufacturer in Silicon Valley. His past lives include service in the U.S. Army and work as a defense contractor and arms-control negotiator, all of which contribute ideas and insights to the linguistic research. OK, tell us all about these:

French fries

"They have been called that since the turn of the 20th century. The term French-fried potatoes is a bit older, appearing in an O. Henry story from 1894. They are so-called because of association with pommes frites."

Hoagie

"It's a Philadelphia-area term for the sandwich. It was originally called a hoggie, because the sandwich was so large, and appears in print for the first time in 1941, although it likely dates to the late-1920s in spoken use. The New York version is called a hero, and also gets its name because of its size. That is, it takes a heroic effort to finish one. In New England, it's a grinder, from the grinding of your teeth. Down south it's a poor boy, probably because it's inexpensive. There are lots of other regional names, most referring to the sandwich's shape, such as zeppelin, submarine, torpedo and rocket."

Chili

"From the Nahuatl, which was spoken originally by the Aztecs, it is the name for the capsicum, or red pepper. It appears in Mexican and Spanish texts in the 16th century, and in English texts in the mid-17th century."

Bagel

"From the Yiddish, beygel. It's a diminutive of the Middle High German boug, meaning ring or bracelet. So a bagel is a 'little ring.' In English, it appears in a translation from Sholom Aleichem in 1916, and was fully Anglicized by the 1930s."

Tip

"It has one of the more persistent false etymologies. The word has meant a small sum of money since the beginning of the 18th century, and in 17th century underworld slang it meant to pass on, to hand to. The idea that it is an acronym meaning 'to insure promptness' is utterly false. Acronymic word origins are virtually nonexistent prior to the 20th century. Until very recently, people just did not create words via acronyms."

Fudge

"From a 16th century verb to fadge, meaning to fit, to make suitable. In the late 19th century it was applied to the confection because it was easy to make, improvised with ingredients already in the kitchen."

4-WAY CINCINNATI CHILI

Dave says, "No, I'm not from Cincinnati, but I learned to appreciate Cincinnati Chili at the Hard Times Cafe, in Alexandria, Va.

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 5 cloves garlic, crushed
- 15 ounces tomato sauce
- 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 10 peppercorns, ground
- 8 whole allspice, ground
- 8 whole cloves, ground
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ground cayenne pepper
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1/2 ounce unsweetened chocolate, grated

Bring 1 quart of water to a boil. Add ground beef. Stir until separated and reduce to a simmer. Stir and add other ingredients. Return to boil, then reduce to a simmer again and let cook for 2 1/2 hours. Cool and refrigerate overnight. Before serving, skim and discard fat. Reheat and serve over spaghetti. Top each serving with grated cheddar cheese, chopped onion. Top with cooked red kidney beans, if desired. Serves six.

Open (fire)house

You're invited to an open house at West Sacramento's new Fire Station #45 at 2040 Washington Blvd. on Saturday, July 7. The 28,000 square foot facility includes offices, living quarters for nine firefighters, a police service center and training facilities. A grand opening is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. Tours, safety demonstrations, kids' activities and refreshments are scheduled from 10:00 a.m. to 2 p.m. Visitors are advised to take Stonegate Drive to Lake Washington Blvd. and proceed west into the parking area. Call 617-4600 for more information.

Anti-crime party

The annual "National Night Out" festivities will return August 7, and local police invite you to host block parties, cookouts, socials and other neighborhood activities. The theme is heightening local crime prevention efforts. Arrangements may be made for local police, the fire department, CHP, Marines or other organizations to drop in on your block party. Contact Nora McDowell at the West Sacramento Police Department, 617-4937, for information.

BBQ for vets

The Yolo County Veterans Coalition has scheduled its 14th annual barbecue fundraiswe for 5 p.m. on July 14 at Eagle's Hall, 37640 Highway 16 in Woodland. $15 dinner includes rib eye steaks and trimmings. Proceeds will help provide transportation for veterans to their medical appointment in a dedicated van. Special guest will be Assemblywoman Lois Wolk. Call (530) 406-4850.

Unwanted shoes

The "Soles 4 Souls" nonprofit group is asking for your lightly used or new shoes, which will be distributed in refugee camps in Sudan this fall. West Sacramento's Affymetrix, Inc., will host donation bins through the month of June to collect the shoes. Bins are inside and outside at the company, 890 Embarcadero Drive, and can be accessed any day from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. For information or to make a monetary donation, contact Monica Harper, 376-1185 or monica_harper@affymetrix.com.

HIV test day

June 27 is National HIV Testing Day, according to the National Association of People with AIDS. This year's event theme is "Take the Test, Take Control," and the event encourages high-risk people to seek testing and information. The Yolo County Health Department can refer you to any of several local clinics that provide free testing. These include the John H. Jones Community Clinic at 500B Jefferson Blvd., Suite 180, in West Sacramento (371-1966). For more HIV/AIDS information, call the health department at (530) 666-8645.

On stage

Yolo archives: from Mexican land grants to 1930s football action

By Beth Gabor
Yolo County Public Information Officer and Kimberly Bellows
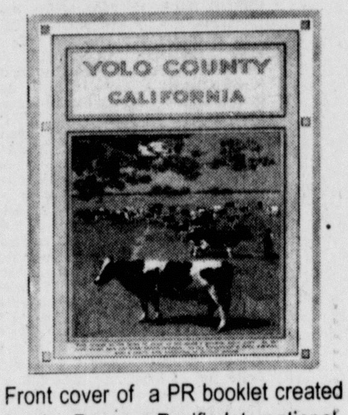
U.C. Davis Intern



Front cover of a PR booklet created for the Panama-Pacific-International-Exposition in San Francisco in 1915.

One of the most valuable resources in Yolo County is the Archives and Records Center which provides an important look into the past. The Records Center contains county documents that need to be held for prescribed periods of time, while the Archives consist of a variety of permanent documents dating back to the county's beginnings in February, 1850. The Archives is not just a place to hold documents; it is a resource for county departments, historians, authors, land owners, school children, and anyone else with a need or desire to learn more about Yolo County's rich history.

Although housed in a small building, Yolo County's collection of archives is extensive, ranging from original tax records to old newspapers. Among the gems are Yolo County court records of probates, wills, civil cases and criminal cases from 1850 to 1960 – a collection so comprehensive and so representative that students have come to view it from Stanford University. The center also holds all records, without gaps, of Board of Supervisors meetings starting with the first meeting in 1850. Few counties have this complete a set.

Some of the most interesting and beautiful archives are the original grant line maps from the transition of Mexican to American governance in the 1850s, hand drawn on linen, with pictures of orchards, rocks, trees, and houses as markers. Prior to 1848, the Mexican government had granted most of the county's land. After the U.S. took possession of California these grants were required to be confirmed by a Board of Land Commissioners and then surveyed. The grant line maps in the Archives Center are still used today by groups such as Caltrans.

The Archives also takes in private collections and currently has everything from scrapbooks made during the Vietnam era to 1930s reels of Woodland High School football games. Mel Russell, Archives Director, emphasized that it is an ongoing collection, taking in new materials all the time. "Active archiving is vital as electeds and administrators retire or move on and institutional memory is lost," notes Russell. "We need ongoing, active archives to make up for that loss."

Anyone can take advantage of the Archives by making an appointment (business hours: Tuesdays 9:00-1:00 p.m./ Thursdays 12:00-4:00 p.m). Russell describes the center as being very user-friendly as she and volunteers with the Friends of the Yolo County Archives (who just celebrated their 20th anniversary) bring researchers pertinent materials and walk them through the process. Having scheduled appointments benefits volunteers, researchers and the Archives as researchers receive more one-on-one attention and the Archives see less wear and tear. To make an appointment, call (530) 666-8010 or e-mail Russell at mel.russell@yolocounty.org.

Russell is often asked why she works with the history of Yolo County, a history much shorter than that of her native England. "There is a unique opportunity in Yolo County and California to save our early history and be directly connected to it," she explains. "Not only can that history be used by government entities, it also helps residents understand where we are today, how we got here, and where we may go tomorrow."

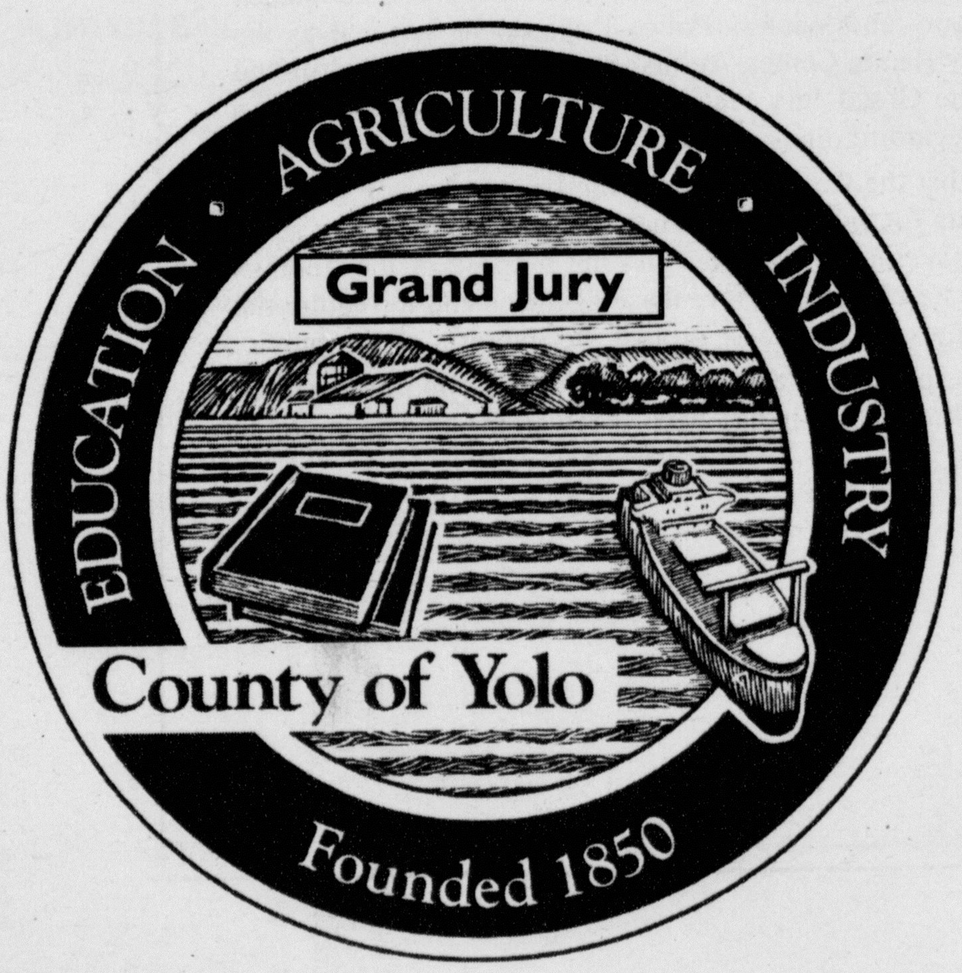
2006–2007 YOLO COUNTY GRAND JURY

FINAL REPORT

A Report for the Citizens of Yolo County, California

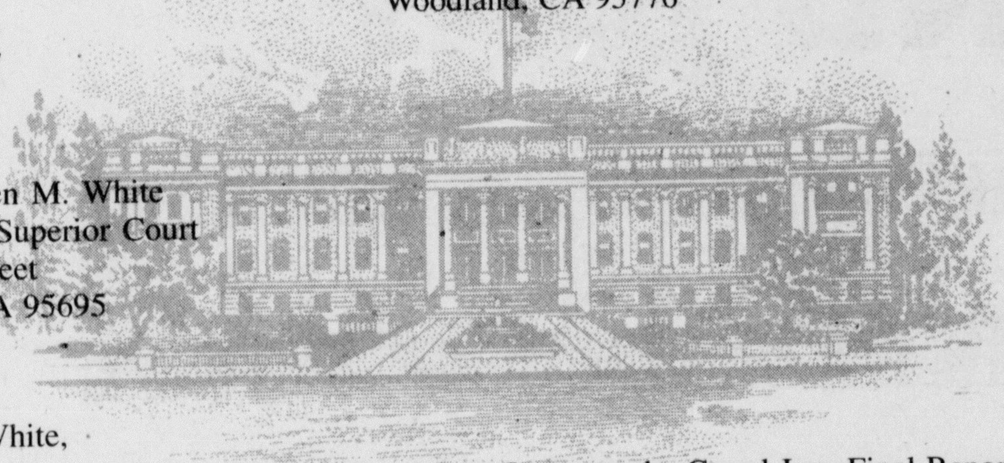


June 30, 2007
Woodland, California

2006-2007 Yolo County Grand Jury Final Report

GRAND JURY
County of Yolo
P.O. Box 2142
Woodland, CA 95776

June 30, 2007



Judge Kathleen M. White
Yolo County Superior Court
725 Court Street
Woodland, CA 95695

Dear Judge White,

As Foreperson of the Yolo County Grand Jury, I present the Grand Jury Final Report to you and to the residents of Yolo County. This report represents the dedicated and conscientious commitment of the members for the past year.

Since taking the oath on July 5th, 2006, members of the Grand Jury have formed an efficient, cooperative unit. We received 15 complaints, heard and signed 3 criminal indictments, and conducted tours of the California Highway Patrol Academy and Winters Police Department, as well as the following Yolo County Departments: Adult Day Health Center, Animal Shelter, Central Landfill and the Juvenile Detention Facility. In addition, the Grand Jury received special presentations from a number of county departments and agencies regarding their missions and community services.

It is important for the public to recognize that the Grand Jury does not have power or authority to mandate compliance by public agencies to its findings or recommendations. The members serve the general public as "watchdogs" of county government agencies and the purpose of the findings and recommendations is to make the public aware of issues before these agencies and to require the agencies to examine their policies and procedures so as to best protect the interests of the public.

I appreciate being selected as a juror in the prior year and especially for the opportunity to be the foreperson of the 2006/07 Yolo County Grand Jury. It has been a rewarding and memorable experience.

Sincerely,

Leanne Thomson

INTRODUCTION

About the Grand Jury

The California Constitution requires each county to appoint a Grand Jury to guard the public interest by monitoring local government. The Yolo County Superior Court appoints 19 Grand Jurors each year from a pool of volunteers. The Yolo County Grand Jury is an official, independent body of the Court, not answerable to administrators or the Board of Supervisors.

Unlike grand juries in other states, a California Grand Jury's primary responsibility is to promote honesty and efficiency in government by reviewing the operations and performance of county and city governments, school districts, and special districts. Based on these reviews, the Grand Jury issues a report that may state its findings and recommend changes in the way government conducts its business. Copies are distributed to public officials, county libraries, and the news media. The governing body of any public agency must respond to Grand Jury findings and recommendations within 90 days. An Elective Officer or Agency Head must respond to Grand Jury findings and recommendations within 60 days. (See Appendix for responses to the 2005-2006 Grand Jury report.)

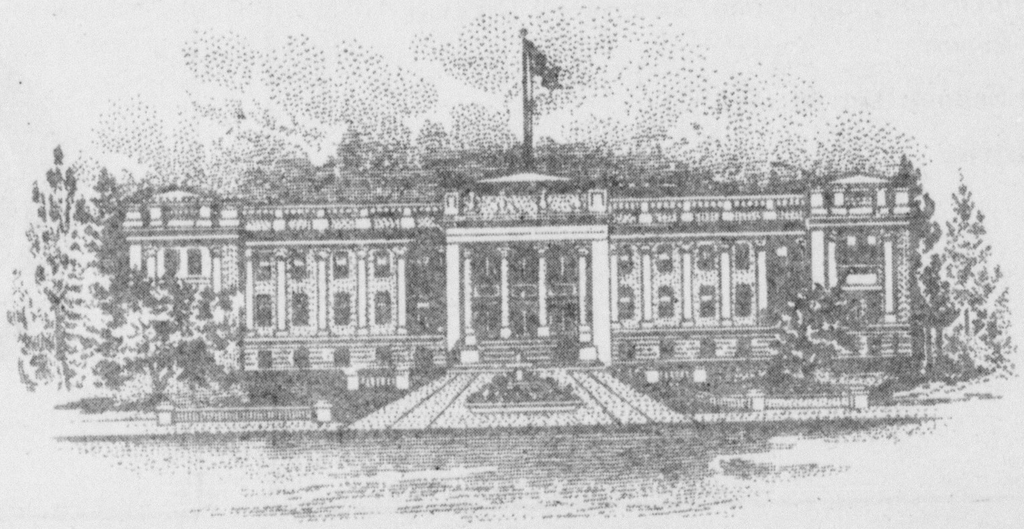
The Grand Jury also investigates complaints from private citizens, local government officials or government employees. Complaints must be submitted in writing and should include any supporting evidence available. A person can request a complaint form at any local library or from the Grand Jury at P.O. Box 2142, Woodland, CA 95776. Grand Jurors are sworn to secrecy and, except in rare circumstances, records of their meetings may not be subpoenaed. The secrecy ensures that neither the identity of the complainant nor the testimony offered to the Grand Jury during its investigations will be revealed. The Grand Jury exercises its own discretion in deciding whether to conduct an investigation or to report its findings on citizen's complaints. Any juror who has a personal interest in a particular investigation is recused from discussion and voting regarding that matter.

The findings in this document report the conclusions reached by the Grand Jury. Although all the findings are based upon evidence, they are the product of the Grand Jury's independent judgment. Some findings are the opinion of the Grand Jury rather than indisputable statements of fact. All reports included in the document have been approved by at least 12 jurors.

The Grand Jury's final responsibility is to consider criminal indictments, usually based on evidence presented by the District Attorney. On its own initiative, however, the Grand Jury may investigate charges of malfeasance (wrongdoing), misfeasance (a lawful act performed in an unlawful manner), or nonfeasance (failure to perform required duties) by public officials.

To be eligible for the Grand Jury, a citizen must be at least 18 years old, have resided in Yolo County for at least one year, exhibit ordinary intelligence and good character, and possess a working knowledge of the English language.

Following a screening process by the Court, Grand Jurors are selected by lottery. If someone is interested in becoming a Grand Juror, they can submit their name to the Jury Commissioner, 725 Court Street, Room 303, Woodland, CA 95695, telephone (530)406-6824 or 6828.



INVESTIGATIONS

Washington Unified School District (WUSD)

REASON FOR REVIEW

The 2005-2006 Grand Jury presented fifteen findings and eighteen recommendations on the Washington Unified School District Board of Education in its final report. The 2006-2007 Grand Jury continued to monitor WUSD, as recommended in Finding 06-53.

BACKGROUND

The WUSD Board of Education oversees all West Sacramento public education students at eight elementary schools, one middle school, one comprehensive high school, and one continuation high school. An elected five-member school board selects the WUSD Superintendent who in turn supervises all other district staff.

FACTS

1. The School Board did respond to the 2005-2006 Grand Jury report. While the Grand Jury considers the response incomplete, it did reflect that the Board shared some of the same concerns on the issues raised by the Grand Jury report.
2. The Grand Jury's investigative techniques are not based on the "perusal" of newspaper articles or letters to the editor. All Grand Jury investigations are conducted by three or more jurors who take sworn testimony from witnesses. All testimony and witnessed who come before the Grand Jury are guaranteed confidentiality.
3. The School Board has made efforts to address claims of Brown Act violations and is aware of conflict of interest regulations. The Board and the Superintendent continue to bring difficult issues to the community for discussion, such as revisions to the high school building plans, charter schools, and the K-8 school reconfiguration proposal.

FINDINGS

1. The WUSD School Board has a difficult task. No governing board will satisfy every member of the community.
2. The new board members and the Superintendent need an opportunity to act and have their decisions evaluated by the community.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The 2006-2007 Grand Jury recommends that the 2007-2008 Grand Jury continue to monitor and report on the progress of the activities of the WUSD as needed.

Yolo County Housing Authority

REASON FOR REVIEW

The 2005-2006 Grand Jury issued an extensive Interim Report on the financial mismanagement and hostile workplace conditions at the Housing Authority (HA). In its Final Report in 2006, the Grand Jury made note of the actions taken to deal with the recommendations they made and requested that the 2006-2007 Grand Jury follow up with interviews to provide an update on conditions at the Authority.

BACKGROUND

Six different Grand Jury panels, comprised of more than one hundred different individuals, issued reports for six out of seven years containing findings that clearly indicated there were significant problems, possibly criminal, at the Housing Authority. Five of those reports were dismissed by the authorities without any serious consideration being given to correcting the situation. Complaints continued to come to the Grand Jury with allegations of financial malfeasance and misfeasance and employee mistreatment.

In January, 2006, the Board of Supervisors contracted with Judge Richard Gilbert (ret) to investigate the Grand Jury's allegations. While the Judge was unable to corroborate all of the Grand Jury's findings, he did come to essentially the same conclusions as those stated in the Interim Report. (See Appendix for the full text of Judge Gilbert's findings).

In June, 2006, the Board of Supervisors dissolved the Board of Commissioners and created an interim governing body comprised of the Supervisors and two resident Commissioners. The Executive Director was forced to resign and is currently facing 19 felony charges including grand theft, fraud, and filing false statements.

In July, 2006, the Interim Director of the Housing Authority appointed by the Supervisors, reported to the Board with 161 "action items" to be incorporated into a work plan to begin the process of restoring the Authority to solvency and efficiency.

During that period, the Supervisors, acting as the Board of Commissioners commenced a search for a permanent Executive Director. In November 2006, Lisa Baker was hired as the Executive Director of the Yolo County Housing Authority.

FACTS

Based on information provided to the Grand Jury the following facts indicate that the new administration is taking the appropriate steps to correct past mismanagement impacts and practices and to restore the financial integrity of the Authority:

- The Authority was given a clean audit for 2006
- The management and staff are working together on the processes necessary to restore fiscal solvency to the Authority.
- As of February, 2007, the Director was negotiating with HUD to restore $793,000 in withheld federal funds. Cost containment and cost cutting, as well as improved rent collections have helped to reduce the operating deficit and cash flow problems inherited from the previous administration.

- The HA staff is working on initiatives to improve service to the communities they serve as well as incorporating the migrant housing program more closely into the HA initiatives.
- Non-essential services have been reduced or eliminated as cost saving measures.
- The Authority has expectations that federal funding will be increased in 2008.
- Morale at the HA has improved dramatically as noted by the employees and the community they serve. Feedback on the new management has been very positive. Other than one retirement there has been no attrition among the HA employees.
- Staff development and training is emphasized to upgrade and improve employee qualifications.
- Public outreach programs and joint initiatives with other non-profit and for-profit organizations are being pursued.

FINDINGS

The Grand Jury commends the Board of Supervisors for taking the necessary steps to correct the problems at the Yolo County Housing Authority. The selection of the Interim Director to identify the problems and make recommendations for rectifying them was the appropriate course to take. The hiring of a professional manager with more than 20 years of experience with subsidized housing programs, troubled housing agencies, and community development should promote both the managerial and the fiscal integrity of the agency.

RECOMMENDATIONS

None.

TOURS

Yolo Adult Day Health Center

REASON FOR REVIEW

As part of its responsibility for oversight of Public Institutions within the County, the Yolo County Grand Jury visited the Yolo Adult Day Health Center.

BACKGROUND

The Adult Day Center was established in 1984. Staffing, services, and equipment requirements are governed by Title 11 of the California Code. This facility currently serves 45-50 clients per day and has 77 clients enrolled in their programs. Most clients participate two or more days per week. Each client is given an assessment and an individualized care plan is tailored for them by a multi-disciplinary team to meet their needs based on their physical and cognitive abilities. The participants may be referred by family, home health agencies, Adult Protective Services or physicians. The Licensee for the program is Yolo County which also owns the building and grounds and provides the maintenance. Woodland HealthCare provides the staffing and program oversight.

Regulations restricting the amount of time a client may remain in the transportation vehicles used by the facility curtail the services the center can provide. As a result, the cities of Dunnigan and Clarksburg are not serviced by the facility.

FINDINGS

1. The Center is equipped to provide for and assist with activities of daily living.
2. Physical and speech therapy are provided.
3. Medical monitoring and medication management occurs throughout the day.
4. Crafts, exercise, and other social and recreational activities are available to all.
5. Those clients with Alzheimer or Dementia diagnoses have a separate room and special activities consistent with their abilities.
6. A morning snack and a full lunch are prepared on site.
7. The use of volunteers from surrounding high schools and local colleges, when available, is integral to the program.
8. The facility provides relief for the clients' caregivers and also offers training, support groups, and resource information to them. The program has reduced the number of visits to Emergency Rooms and minimizes hospital stays for this clientele.
9. The facility currently has three buses with lifts. These buses have the capacity to transport 18 passengers in each vehicle.

RECOMMENDATIONS

None. The Grand Jury appreciates the efforts of the staff to provide the jurors with a complete overview of the facility and its services.

The Grand Jury did notice the absence of handicapped access doors at the entrance to the facility and hopes that condition will be corrected in the near future.

Yolo County Animal Shelter

REASON FOR REVIEW

The California Penal Code requires the Grand Jury to inspect and review the conditions and management of various county departments and facilities. In accordance with that requirement, the Grand Jury visited the Yolo County Animal Shelter.

BACKGROUND

The current shelter was constructed in 1969 and provides services for the four incorporated cities and the unincorporated areas of the county. Animal control services are provided under contract. While the human population of the county has tripled, the capacity of the Shelter to manage the increase in the feral, stray, and abandoned animal population has remained essentially the same for 35 years.

FINDINGS

1. In conjunction with the UCD Veterinary program, services will be expanded from part-time to full time. At no increased cost, the Shelter will conduct rabies clinics more than twice a year; offer more opportunities for students to provide emergency care; and establish an alternative surgery program.
2. The Shelter has taken steps to "professionalize" its work and to become more than "dog and cat catchers." They are providing more education and counseling for pet adoptions for residents of apartment complexes housing large numbers of students. This has resulted in fewer incidents of abandoned pets by graduates and/or students leaving animals unattended over the summer.
3. The Shelter has established a cooperative program with breed-specific rescue groups in order to secure the placement of more of the dogs they capture. Feral cats in rural communities are the most labor and cost intensive programs and they are having the most impact on the Shelter's resources and their ability to provide services.
4. The development of a "socialization/temperament" testing process by animal behaviorists at UCD allows the Shelter to reduce its liability and the risks attendant in dog adoptions.
5. The Shelter expects to leave the existing facility within the next five years. The goal is to locate a more isolated site large enough to accommodate livestock and to accommodate the housing needs for all of the animals.
6. The Shelter would like to have more support for training in order to provide additional enforcement for animal control and the "hoarding" of animals by those least able to provide proper diet and medical care.
7. The Shelter is seeking alternative funding sources to ensure that all impounded animals receive a micro-chip in order to have a better inventory of those repeat offenders who adopt and then abandon shelter animals.

RECOMMENDATIONS

None. The Grand Jury wishes to thank the staff at the Shelter for their courteous and comprehensive review of the Shelter and its operations.

California Highway Patrol Academy

REASON FOR REVIEW

The California Highway Patrol is a state agency and as such, is not subject to Yolo County Grand Jury jurisdiction. Because the facility is located in Yolo County, the Grand Jury requested an informational tour.

BACKGROUND

Located on 457 acres in West Sacramento, the California Highway Patrol conducts a training academy to maintain staffing of approximately 7,000 sworn officers to serve the citizens of California.

Facilities include an administration building, dorm rooms to house over 300 cadets, nine permanent classrooms, and a cafeteria that seats 400. There is a recreation building that includes a gymnasium with a swimming pool and there is an Emergency Vehicle Operations Course (EVOC) with a 2-mile high speed track, skid pan, and a 3-mile defensive driving network, motorcycle network, firing range, and K-9 course.

There are two memorials which honor those officers who died in the line of duty, plaques on the walls of the administration building, and a memorial fountain in the courtyard.

The training course is a six-month program which includes, in addition to daily classroom instruction, 90 hours of physical fitness training, 72 hours of physical methods of arrest, 50 hours of EVOC. After a stringent application process, approximately 80% of cadets graduate successfully from the program at a cost of approximately $100,000 per cadet.

FINDINGS

1. Physically, the academy is immaculate, both inside and out. This training facility has been operating continuously since July of 1976 and appears to be very well maintained.
2. There is an emphasis on honor, discipline, and tradition.

RECOMMENDATIONS

None. The Grand Jury wishes to thank the staff for a comprehensive and informative tour.

Yolo County Central Landfill

REASON FOR REVIEW

As part of its responsibility for the oversight of public facilities within the County, the Grand Jury visited the Yolo County Central Landfill on January 11, 2007.

BACKGROUND

The Yolo County Central Landfill is located at 44090 County Road 28H, between Davis and Woodland. It is comprised of 724 acres, of which 473 acres are permitted for landfill. The landfill is owned by Yolo County and operated by the Yolo County Planning and Public Works, Division of Integrated Waste Management. It is a Class III (i.e. non-hazardous) waste facility responsible for processing

(TOURS:
Yolo County Central Landfill
— continues on page 8)

solid waste from the cities of Davis, West Sacramento, Winters, Woodland, and the unincorporated areas of the county.

FINDINGS

1. The landfill is self-funded through collection fees, royalties, grants, and recycling sales. No tax dollars go toward its funding.
2. Currently, the waste is sequestered in dry cells. These are dump sites of solid waste surrounded by layers of soil, gravel, and a plastic liner, which prevent or greatly reduce the contamination of ground water.
3. There are five research wet cells. These are bioreactors that distribute moisture and nutrients to allow for increased microbial degradation of wastes. It has been shown that the waste decomposes and compacts approximately ten times faster than in a dry cell. There is an added bonus of increased methane gas production, which is being collected and sold commercially, helping to offset the increased cost of maintaining a wet cell and possibly generate a profit, depending on future energy prices.
4. When the current dry cell is full in five to eight years, all future cells will be wet. It is estimated that the facility has space for 40 more years of waste disposal. At that time, by raising the current height limit of the landfill, an additional 40 years of waste can be accommodated. To increase efficiency, a new administration building is near completion at the landfill, which will consolidate the waste management offices in Woodland and at the site.
5. The future disposal needs of the County appear to be well planned.

RECOMMENDATIONS

None. The Grand Jury wishes to thank Linda Sinderson, Deputy Director of the Division of Integrated Waste Management for the county for her comprehensive presentation and tour of the facility.

Yolo County Juvenile Detention Facility

REASON FOR REVIEW

California Penal Code 919 (b) mandates that each year members of the Grand Jury investigate and report on the conditions and management of public detention facilities. The Grand Jury toured this facility on January 12, 2007.

BACKGROUND

Faced with an aging inadequate facility originally built to house12 minors, the issues of overcrowding and security clearly indicated the need for a new facility. In 2000, Federal grant funding became available and construction of a new facility began in March 2004. Occupancy commenced in August 2005.

FINDINGS

1. The new facility consists of three pods. In each pod there are 30 beds, two classrooms, a day room, showers, and an interview room. Yolo County Office of Education (YCOE) provides academic programs for the detained minors. The Staff also provides a Regional Occupational Program (ROP), which includes computer literacy training and resumé composition.
2. The California Forensic Medical Group (CFMG) provides medical services. There is a Registered Nurse available during normal administrative hours and on-call services are available after hours.
3. The facility provides recreational and entertainment activities. The minors may receive visits from parents or legal guardians once a week during the week and for an hour on weekends. They may write and receive letters and correspondence without limit subject to the screening policies and procedures of the facility.

RECOMMENDATIONS

None. The Grand Jury found the staff caring and knowledgeable and they demonstrated the professionalism the community hopes to have within such a facility.

Monroe Detention Center

REASON FOR REVIEW

In accordance with the requirements of California Penal Code 919(b), the Grand Jury toured the Monroe Detention Center on December 6, 2006.

BACKGROUND

Since the opening of the facility in 1991, the County Jail has been utilized to detain individuals of all security classifications pending their arraignment, during trial, and post sentencing. Upon arrival at the Center, all inmates are first screened for potential physical and mental health needs, and treatment is provided as needed. Inmates are classified, housed, clothed, and fed according to established policies and procedures. At present there are 92 correctional officers at the facility.

There have been significant changes in the population of the county facility and in the means of supervision utilized. There are more serious offenders incarcerated than in the past. In 1988 there was one felony murder inmate in the jail; at the end of 2006, there were three. The facility currently houses approximately 450 inmates, including ten federal prisoners awaiting pretrial appearances.

The facility operates on a budget based on a "day rate" of $85 per inmate. The staff follows a behavior-based response system. The officers do not carry weapons inside the facility. Officers are armed with pepper spray, tasers, and handcuffs to deal with control situations. The facility has increased the number of cameras to cover those areas where inmates move between locations. There is now a coordination of cameras and door locks providing the correctional officers a greater sense of security.

The housing units or "pods" each have a day room. The facility offers a number of donated books and provides newspapers in English, Spanish and Russian languages. There is a protective custody section as well as housing elements to keep various gangs separate from one another.

First Aid and routine services such as anger management, alcohol and drug classes are held at the facility. There are GED classes and other related services available for those inmates who wish to take advantage of them. Special needs such as dental visits require inmate transport to the service provider.

A half-pod of thirty-two cells is dedicated to housing women prisoners. This area is a "mini-jail" in which inmates are segregated by the level of security they require.

FINDINGS

The Grand Jury would like to express its appreciation to the jail staff for providing a comprehensive and informative tour of the facility.

RECOMMENDATIONS

None.

- Harrison Jack, Yolo County Ombudsman

APPENDIX

Responses to the 2005-2006 Grand Jury Final Report

In accordance with Section 933(c) of the California Penal Code, the governing body of a public agency or its designated administrator must respond to the Grand Jury recommendations within 90 days. Other named respondents must respond within 60 days. Section 933.05 requires that the appropriate person or entity respond to both the findings and recommendations of the Grand Jury.

Each recommendation below from the 2005-2006 Grand Jury Final Report is followed by an extract of the respondent's official response. The complete report is available at public libraries in Yolo County. The complete set of responses is available for public view at the office of the Clerk of the Yolo County Board of Supervisors.

Yolo County Housing Authority

Note: The Board of Supervisors was named by the 2005-2006 Grand Jury as the respondent to the Interim Report on the Yolo County Housing Authority (YCHA). The Board contracted for an independent consultant to review the Findings and Recommendations contained in the Interim Report and to report back to the Board with his conclusions. The Board's letter of transmittal to the Grand Jury states "It is our belief that the judge's (former Superior Court Judge Richard Gilbert) report fully addresses the issues and allegations raised by the Grand Jury, and serves as our formal response to Recommendations 06-09 through 06-18.

The report submitted to the Grand Jury was a summary of the confidential report submitted to the Board. The full report was not made available to the Grand Jury.

Because of the interest in the resolution to the YCHA issues, the Recommendations will be summarized and the Judge's response will be printed in full.

Recommendations 06-09 through 06-18:

- Immediately abolish the Board of Commissioners and assume oversight and management of the YCHA until all the allegations have been investigated and criminal charges, if any, have been filed.
- Place the Executive Director and the Assistant Director on Administrative Leave, without pay, effective immediately.
- Contact HUD and demand an immediate review of YCHA accounting irregularities and an explanation for its lax oversight.
- Immediately begin an investigation of all financial dealings, loans, and debts incurred by the YCHA, New Hope and Nuevo Esperanza corporations. A determination should be made as to whether funds were properly allocated and loans were obtained with legitimate documentation.
- Seize all remaining financial records and provide an independent audit of the YCHA, New Hope and Nuevo Esperanza finances.
- Provide assurance that all employees are pre-screened according to HUD guidelines to determine their qualifications to perform the functions for which they were hired. Background checks must be a part of that process to assure the safety of the public and to protect public resources.
- Investigate the charges of bribery, kickbacks, and threats by the Executive Director to tenants, and current/former Commissioners and employees.
- Investigate allegations that YCHA maintenance personnel have been used for non-authorized purposes.
- Suspend the services of the YCHA's outside counsel pending an investigation of their contract with the authority.
- Provide YCHA employees with appropriate representation who will act on their behalf to prevent further abuses. Employee protections and recourse should be defined and enforced.

RESPONSES FOR THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS BY JUDGE GILBERT:

Our investigation of the Yolo County Housing Authority conducted to assist the Board of Supervisors in its response to the January 24, 2006 Interim Report of the Yolo County Grand Jury is complete. I am submitting two forms of our report. The first is a complete, confidential report for the Board that includes our detailed findings and recommendations. The confidential report includes reference documents and evidence and the forensic accounting report of Ueltzen & Associates, Certified Public Accountants and Forensic Fraud Examiners.

Because the law requires that information on the performance of individual public employees be confidential and because the Authority is an independent public agency which is not part of County government and not under the direct authority of the Board, we are also submitting a summary report for public distribution which does not contain confidential information.

Our investigation did not substantiate many of the findings of the Grand Jury. In fact, many of the Grand Jury facts and findings are, in our opinion, clearly wrong or clearly not supported by reasonable evidence. It is also important to note that the great majority of Authority employees and managers are dedicated, hard working professionals. Nonetheless, we did find several significant problems at the Authority that, in our opinion, require Board action. The recommendations below are based on the following primary findings detailed in the accompanying reports:

1. The Authority and its management have misused restricted housing program funds in connection with several major endeavors including the acquisition and remodeling of their office facilities and in the acquisition of property in the City of Woodland by one of the Authority's non-profits. These transactions took place in violation of federal and state funding rules. Additionally, the Housing Commissioners were misinformed or incompletely informed of the details of the transactions and were deprived of the opportunity to adequately and independently review the actions proposed and taken by staff.

2. There is a history of stress and turmoil at the Authority beginning with the tenure of the current Executive Director. At present, the workplace atmosphere is one of fear and polarization. Staff operate under an inordinate amount of stress. Moreover, these conditions place the Authority at risk for claims of hostile work environment and other workplace related liability claims. There are multiple causes for these conditions which include the personnel practices of Authority management.

3. A long history of polarization and conflict among Housing Commissioners combined with a pattern of inadequate information and advice to the Commission concerning Authority operations and finance has compromised the ability of the existing Commission to carry out its statutory functions of management and control of Authority management and programs. This finding is not intended to question the motives, intent or integrity of the Commission or its members. The members of the Commission have served to the best of their abilities. Over the last several years, however, their effectiveness has been compromised by the actions of management, conflicts between themselves, and a series of vacancies at the Commission. Several current Commissioners would like to be replaced and the term of the remaining Resident Commissioner has expired.

Based on our investigation and analysis and the present circumstances, we recommend:

1. That the Board of Supervisors exercise its authority under the Health and Safety Code 34290 to eliminate the independent Housing Authority Commission and declare itself to be the Commissioners of the Authority for an interim period of approximately six to nine months.
2. That the Board, acting as the Housing Commission, engage the County Administrator to directly oversee and monitor the day-to-day management of the Authority. This oversight should, at the discretion of the County Administrator, be by existing County staff, an outside contractor selected for that purpose, or both.
3. That the Board, acting as the Housing Commission, direct the County Administrator to conduct an immediate audit of the management, practices, and programs of the Authority and of the non-profit "Community Development Corporations" wholly owned by the Authority and to report to the Board (Commission) on what further steps are needed to insure the future success and integrity of the Authority and its programs. The Board may wish to consider requesting the services of the County Auditor-Controller in connection with the necessary review of fiscal systems.

We note that the Commission has scheduled a special meeting for Saturday, June 17. We do not know whether the topics the Commission intends to discuss or the actions it may take will bear on the circumstances we have investigated. It is possible that one or more actions taken by the Commission will mitigate the circumstances resulting in the recommendations above. Accordingly, the Board should be prepared to consider these recommendations in light of any such developments. Should circumstances warrant, we will be prepared to offer alternatives.

It is the combination of the general findings listed above that support the above recommendations. It is not reasonable to assume that the two existing vacant Commission seats, as well as the two or three seats that may be vacated shortly can be filled with appointees willing and qualified to serve under the current circumstances. The problems we have found, along with the atmosphere of mistrust and controversy surrounding the Authority, require a swift and immediate response. At present, the only reasonable way to address the identified problems, insure the integrity of the Authority operations at the program level, and restore stability to the workplace in a timely way is to immediately deploy existing County staff resources and provide the direction and guidance of the Board of Supervisors. As noted above, the recommendation to dissolve the independent appointed Housing Commission is that this be for the shortest time needed to address the concerns we have identified and those discovered by the detailed, in-place review recommended above. When necessary changes and systems are in place and stability restored, the Board should re-establish the Housing Commission and Authority as an independent body and appoint Housing Commissioners as required by statute.

Thank you for the opportunity to be of service.

Sincerely,

Richard L. Gilbert

Yolo County Assessor's Office

Note: The Assessor states the following: "As I am not in agreement with the findings in the 2005-2006 Yolo County Grand Jury Report, the associated recommendations will not be implemented. I am, however, happy to meet with the Grand Jury at their convenience to further discuss the operations of the Assessor's office and address any additional concerns."

Recommendation 06-19:

The Assessor's Office should avoid the use of residential property in Davis as comparables for unique West Sacramento properties (with an arbitrary location adjustment). Use of other valuation methods or similarly situated comparables outside of Yolo County is more appropriate.

(APPENDIX: Responses to the 2005-2006 Yolo County Grand Jury Final Report — continues on page 12)

RESPONSE OF THE YOLO COUNTY ASSESSOR:

Finding #2 (Recommendation 06-19) is a misstatement. Management has never supported the use of Davis properties as comparables for West Sacramento properties. In one instance an appraiser did use this approach, which was ultimately rejected by management.

Recommendation 06-20:

If the State cannot provide early independent reviews of real property audits, then annual or bi-annual reviews by an independent source should be initiated. These reviews will help locate minor problems in the system and provide employee training as portions of Yolo County become more urbanized.

RESPONSE OF THE YOLO COUNTY ASSESSOR:

All properties for annual review with encoding errors were discovered by internal controls before the close of the assessment year and were reviewed in a timely manner, with the exception of one property. That property inadvertently missed review in only one year, and when found, it was determined that no correction was ultimately necessary. If a correction were necessary it could have been fully and legally corrected as state statute allows corrections to be made within four years of the original assessment year.

Recommendation 06-21:

The Assessor's Office should continue its efforts to authorize additional staff and supervisory positions. To the extent possible, internal promotions are recommended.

RESPONSE OF THE YOLO COUNTY ASSESSOR:

No response.

Recommendation 06-22:

The Assessor's Office should continue its efforts to increase communication at all staff levels. Monthly or bi-monthly meetings with all staff are recommended.

RESPONSE OF THE YOLO COUNTY ASSESSOR:

Finding #4 (Recommendation 06-22) – Overall morale in the Assessor's Office is good recognizing that all organizations face morale issues from time to time. With limited county resources, management cannot always fulfill every employee's request, which sometimes leads to morale issues. That, however, does not lessen management's commitment to providing a positive work environment.

The report indicates conflicting testimony on morale, which likely could have been cleared up upon further investigation and discussion with the department head. All managers in the Assessor's office have an open door policy that provides employees ample opportunity to communicate with management. Management is, and has been, committed to addressing employee morale issues as they arise and has regularly encouraged team-building activities to maintain a positive work environment.

Police Department, Yuba Community College District

Recommendation 06-23:

The Grand Jury for 2006-2007 follow-up with Yuba Community College District to ensure that remedial training of the officer in question has resulted in his improved job performance.

YUBA COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT (YCCD) RESPONSE:

(The YCCD responded through their attorneys on behalf of those employees of the District cited in the report as respondents)

Penal Code 933.05 allows a number of responses by the District to the findings of the Grand Jury. Subsection (a)(4) which allows a responding entity to respond as follows: "The recommendation will not be implemented because it is not warranted, or is not reasonable." As such, the District advises the Court that the District will not implement the findings of the Yolo Grand Jury that the District institute unspecified "morals" training for its employees. To the extent that it understands this finding, the District has, for some time, instructed its employees in an expected code of conduct and the rules and regulations of the District. As the Court knows, the presence of a legal and moral structure does not always guarantee that it will be followed.

Recommendation 06-24:

The Chief of Police for the Yuba Community College District demonstrate that he has in place a formalized training plan that has been implemented. Such a plan should include training for new hires as well as in-service training for experienced officers.

YCCD RESPONSE:

The District's representative did not specifically address this Recommendation. The response can be inferred from the response to Recommendation 06-23 that the recommendation will not be implemented because it is not warranted or is not reasonable.

Recommendation 06-25:

The Director of Human Resources for the Yuba Community College District demonstrate that in-service training, focusing explicitly on laws and ethics, has been provided to all certificated employees. A plan should be in place to insure that such training is offered to all new hires, and on an in-service basis at regular intervals.

YCCD RESPONSE:

The District's representative did not specifically address this Recommendation. The response can be inferred from the response to Recommendation 06-24 that the recommendation will not be implemented because it is not warranted or is not reasonable.

Community Health Centers

Note: The President of the Board of Directors for CommuniCare Health Centers responded to the recommendations with the following stipulations: "We were requested by the 2005-2006 Yolo County Grand Jury Foreperson to submit a written response to the Recommendations in the 2005-2006 Grand Jury Final Report pertaining to CommuniCare Health Centers. We would like to clarify one main point. CommuniCare Health Centers is a private, non-profit with its own Board of Directors. It is not a public agency and is not a part of the Yolo County Health Department. Attached is a letter from the Yolo County Board of Supervisors also stating that CommuniCare Health Centers is an independent non-profit. The County of Yolo cannot respond for us since we are not an agency of the County. Accordingly, we will respond to each of the recommendations."

Recommendation 06-26:

Communicare should be supported by all available means because it provides invaluable services to an otherwise unserved or underserved sub-population in Yolo County.

COMMUNICARE RESPONSE:

We agree with this statement and are always seeking private and government funding to support the substantial amount of uncompensated care that we provide.

Recommendation 06-27:

Serious consideration should be given to closure of the CommuniCare clinic in Knights Landing.

COMMUNICARE RESPONSE:

We are committed to continuing to provide health care services to the Knights Landing community as long as it is financially feasible. We continue to seek funding to subsidize the operations at the Knights Landing clinic. CommuniCare continuously evaluates the financial feasibility of our health centers. At this time, there is no plan to close the Knights Landing clinic, but we will re-evaluate this decision as needed.

Recommendation 06-28:

If the Knights Landing clinic is closed and it is found that some residents are unable to access other CommuniCare facilities, purchase of a van for transporting these clients, and others in outlaying portions of the county, should be considered.

COMMUNICARE RESPONSE:

We are not closing the Knights Landing clinic at this time. However, since public transportation is so limited in the rural sections of Yolo County, a van to transport residents for health care services to the population centers of the county would be beneficial.

Recommendation 06-29:

The Executive Director is encouraged to continue efforts to manage transparently, so that staff is well informed.

COMMUNICARE RESPONSE:

CommuniCare's Executive Director and members of CommuniCare's Leadership Team attend monthly staff meetings at all of our clinic sites to keep employees updated about the finances, program and facility changes, quality improvement initiatives and revenue enhancement activities of the organization and to receive their in-put on these issues as well.

Yolo County Department of Employment and Social Services (DESS)

Recommendation 06-30:

The Department of Human Resources must be more aggressive in recruiting new employees for DESS.

RESPONSE OF THE DIRECTOR OF HUMAN RESOURCES FOR DESS:

The Department of Employment and Social Services (DESS) currently employs 360 individuals. As of July 1, 2006, 44 of the positions allocated to the department were considered vacant giving the department a 12.2% vacancy rate which is comparable to the county-wide turnover rate of 12.4%.

During the 2005-06 fiscal year, the Department of Human Resources issued 40 certification lists to DESS. Each certification list was for a position classification that may have been used for one or more vacancies. Each list contained 8 to 10 candidates who fully met the minimum qualifications for the position. There were a total of 372 certified individuals who were considered for the 40 certification lists. Our goal is to provide a department with 10 certified individuals per recruitment effort and the above numbers show that we regularly met that goal. Due to the fact that an appropriate number of candidates are being certified for consideration, a more aggressive recruitment will not resolve the concern of staff shortages.

As the Department of Human Resources observes statistics that alert us to potential problem areas, we investigate the reasons behind the concern. One such concern, brought forward in November of 2004 during contract negotiations, was the salaries offered to Public Assistance Specialists. Following a comprehensive review of these positions, on June 20, 2006, the Board of Supervisors approved increased salaries, revised position classifications, and a promotional ladder providing expanded career path opportunities for employees. The human resources department is undergoing an identical process for Employment Specialists and Social Workers, which will be brought to the Board of Supervisors in January, 2007. All of these changes will improve the marketability of the positions in

DESS and are designed to retain employees within the Department.

The Department of Human Resources is committed to improving the recruitment and retention efforts in all departments. Moreover, the Department has developed a plan to improve classifications, compensation and recruitment efforts that should result in lower vacancy and turnover rates throughout the county within the next two years.

Recommendation 06-31:

The new Director of DESS must carefully monitor the behavior and progress of the Assistant Director in question.

Washington Unified School District (WUSD)

Recommendation 06-36:

The WUSD Board must hire and unanimously support a permanent superintendent with experience in bringing differing factions to consensus, generating trust with parents and staff and the activation SLC's. Given the depth and breadth of experience required by this individual, the Grand Jury believes the hirc should be new to the WUSD and compensation should be of secondary concern.

BOARD OF EDUCATION RESPONSE:

The Board of Education conducted a national search for a new superintendent utilizing the expertise of the California School Boards Association. The staff, community and Board gave input to the search advisor regarding the attributes and experience they would like to see in a new superintendent. A new superintendent was hired and he began his duties on June 30, 2006. The Board was unanimous in his selection and has empowered him to administer the district following the Board direction and Board policy.

In addition, the Board authorized the new superintendent to hire an assistant superintendent for educational services, a permanent high school principal and vice principals, two K-6 principals, an assistant superintendent of human resources and has approved the contracts with two new law firms.

Recommendation 06-37:

Administrators, Board members and legal counsel, who are fully aware of the community's distrust, should make every effort to conduct themselves professionally and avoid situations that may appear inappropriate.

BOARD OF EDUCATION RESPONSE:

District level administrators and Board members are committed to the success of the students in the District. Their intention is to conduct themselves professionally as they carry out their duties and responsibilities.

WUSD SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS RESPONSE:

WUSD administrators are committed to the success of every child attending schools in our district. The expectation is that every representative of the district will conduct themselves professionally as they carry out their duties and responsibilities.

Recommendation 06-38:

It is incumbent upon members of the WUSD Board to recuse themselves from discussions and voting when a topic that presents a conflict of interest arises. Each member of the Board must be scrupulous about self-examination in such matters. It is also the responsibility of any Board member who may be aware of a conflict or potential conflict of interest of another member who has failed to recuse him/herself to address that issue with said member.

BOARD OF EDUCATION RESPONSE:

'The Board agrees with the recommendation. After two new Board members are elected in November, 2006, and become installed in December, 2006 we will have a Board study session to review what constitutes a conflict of interest or potential conflict of interest, what specific criteria must be verified to substantiate a conflict of interest or potential conflict of interest, and what processes and/or procedures can or should be enhanced to guard against and prevent conflicts of interest.

Recommendation 06-39:

The WUSD Superintendent shall be aware of the BOC by-laws and ensure no contracts are drafted to benefit BOC members, their families, or their holdings.

WUSD SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS RESPONSE:

The Superintendent has studied the BOC by-laws and is committed to running the district legally and ethically.

Recommendations 06-40, 06-41, 06-42:

Recommendation 06-40:

The Mayor and WUSD Board Members should discontinue utilizing city and district functions to promote the agendas of their employers.

Recommendation 06-41:

The Yolo County Superintendent of Schools, or his designee, should attend all closed sessions of the WUSD for one calendar year to police members from violating the Brown Act.

Recommendation 06-42:

The WUSD Superintendent should ensure every effort is made to obtain the Bridgeway matching funds.

WUSD SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS RESPONSE:

The District is in the process of appealing to the Office of Public School Construction and the State Allocation Board.

Recommendation 06-43:

The Assistant Superintendent for Business Services should more closely monitor purchasing and ordering procedures to avoid the appearance of, or actual inappropriate actions on the part of district employees.

WUSD ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT FOR BUSINESS SERVICES RESPONSE:

The Assistant Superintendent for Business Services has many duties but every Purchase Order Requisition is reviewed in the Business Office and will continue to be reviewed in the future.

Recommendation 06-44:

The Assistant Superintendent for Business Services must supervise the purchasing and ordering procedures so that contracts are not assigned because of favors or friendship extended to the parties responsible for vendor selection.

WUSD ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT FOR BUSINESS SERVICES RESPONSE:

We do not and will not purchase or order materials or services based on favors or friendships extended to employees of the district. The new administration is committed to ensuring that district contracts or purchase orders are approved or recommended to the Board based on a vendor's or consultant's competitive price, established reputation, ability to fulfill the district's needs and on Ed Code regulations related to the bid process where appropriate.

Recommendation 06-45:

The WUSD Superintendent and Yolo County Superintendent of Schools should form a partnership to bring Yolo County training resources to district staff.

WUSD SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS RESPONSE:

The WUSD administration is happy to continue to work collaboratively with Yolo County Office of Education staff to plan staff development training in areas where the county has a proven level of expertise and the district has a need. Like any district in Yolo County or elsewhere, the district reserves the right to utilize other agencies or consultants who are experts in their field and have proven track records of success.

Recommendation 06-46:

The Assistant Superintendent for Business Services should ensure that ASB funds are appropriately utilized and monitored. A system for making approved purchases on an emergency basis, such as a WUSD-issued credit card, should be provided to staff that must repeatedly make such purchases. District policy should discourage the use of personal credit cards.

WUSD ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT FOR BUSINESS SERVICES RESPONSE:

The ASB is run by staff and students at the school site and it is their responsibility to follow the rules, regulations and procedures provided in law and district policy. The Business Office staff provides training, support, and oversight. Site level personnel will be held accountable for following the rules, regulations and policies.

The district does have policies and procedures for making purchases. Staff is strongly encouraged to use the procedures and follow the process for making purchases and not use personal credit cards. The principal at River City High School does have a WUSD credit card for emergency purchases.

Recommendation 06-47:

The WUSD Superintendent should develop a policy of telecommuting for employees of the district. If such a policy exists, the Superintendent should educate employees about the pertinent guidelines.

WUSD SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS RESPONSE:

The Superintendent will draft a policy for Board of Education approval during the fall of 2006, and will implement said policy forthwith.

Recommendation 06-48:

The WUSD Board should expeditiously close the significant gap in high school funding to meet federal grant mandates, to allow construction to begin for timely student occupancy and to win community support and trust.

BOARD OF EDUCATION RESPONSE:

The funding gap has been reduced by a combination of reducing the number of buildings to be built, value engineering, competitive bidding and adoption of a finance plan. Bids have been accepted and construction should begin in the near future with student occupancy planned for August 2008. The Board does not know what "federal grant mandates" the Grand Jury referred to in Recommendation 06-48.

Recommendation 06-49:

The WUSD Board, Superintendent and High School Administrators must increase their efforts to educate the community and staff about the SLC concept in order to build enthusiasm for conversion to that program.

WUSD SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS RESPONSE:

It is a district goal that every student graduate from our P-12 system with the knowledge and skills necessary to be successful beyond high school. What needs to be clearly articulated is that SLCs are not a silver bullet that guarantees student success. Research on SLCs is inconclusive in that it demonstrates that students in SLCs feel better connected to their school. However, this feeling of connectedness has not necessarily translated into more students mastering English Language Arts and math standards.

Our focus needs to be how to meld what works in a collaborative departmental high school model with the SLC model. A collaborative departmental model is powerful when teams of teachers within a subject area reach agreements around what every student needs to learn, how they will assess student mastery of the agreed upon learning targets, and where the teachers work collaboratively to create support structures for students who do not learn something the first time around. The department model allows teachers to share best practice within a specific subject. The power of the SLC model is that an interdisciplinary group of teachers supports an identified group of students. This allows the teachers to identify an individual student's areas of strength and to build off of these strengths in the various curricular areas. It also allows teachers to identify natural areas where their curriculum intersects, in order to help students draw connections between subject areas.

Recommendation 06-50:

The WUSD Board of Education should ensure that any eminent domain actions taken are absolutely necessary.

BOARD OF EDUCATION RESPONSE:

The district worked collaboratively with the City in determining the appropriate location for the high school entrance. Only the two parcels at the entrance are being considered for eminent domain.

Recommendation 06-51:

It is imperative that the WUSD Board of Education promptly does the following:

- Secure strong leadership
- Develop a written statement of process and procedures to be followed by each Board member at all times. Process must be congruent with procedure.
- Develop a strategic plan for the district.
- Discontinue the habit of micromanaging the district's affairs.
- Conduct its business in as transparent a manner as possible.

BOARD OF EDUCATION RESPONSE:

The Board believes they are taking proactive measures to move the district forward in a positive manner. New leadership is in place for the Superintendent, Assistant Superintendent of Educational Services, and Assistant Superintendent of Human Resources positions. The search for new Assistant Superintendent of Business Services will be completed by mid-October, 2006. Since the new Superintendent has been hired he has worked closely and collaboratively with the school Board, and has not felt micromanaged. The Superintendent intends to utilize a collaborative process to develop a district strategic plan.
